SEPARATE Y. M. C. A. ORGANIZATION IS NOW AUTHORIZED

Complete Unit in Glendale Granted at Gathering of County Committeemen

Owing to the growth of the Hi-Y work in Glendale it was decided at the regular meeting of the county committee held at Alhambra last night that the Y. M. C. A. in Glendale would be recognized as a separate and independent unit under the supervision of the state committee of which F. P. Knapp, Los Angeles, is secretary for county work.

This new organization means that Glendale will have a complete Y. M. C. A. unit of its own, and Rex C. Kelley who has been associate secretary will be secretary of county work.

Officers will be elected soon, states Mr. Kelley, for the new administration. All money now subscribed for the Y. M. C. A. organization will be spent for work in Glendale. The new arrangement is the result of the growth in the organization since its first work in Glendale three years ago, states Mr. Kelley, and it has now been found that the district can do effective work as an independent unit.

There was much enthusiasm at the meeting Thursday night and the action taken in reorganizing means another step nearer a Y. M. C. A. building for the city say the officials.

Under the new plan the local Y. M. C. A. will still hold its third in-

Central League Rule Helps Glendale Team

Glendale high school's chances for a championship football aggregation in 1922 were given a big boost on Wednesday afternoon when, at a special meeting of the coaches of the Central league teams held in Monrovia, it was ruled that five-year men will be eligible for competition next year under certain conditions. Said conditions involve the oft-mentioned and ill-fated "flu vacation," which caused the cessation of all school activities for several weeks in 1918. Since that time the question of eligibility has been brought up on numerous occasions throughout Southern California prep athletics.

The rule adopted by the Central league leaders on Wednesday makes it legal for an athlete to discount the fall term of 1918 as far as interscholastic competition is counted, provided that he was absent from school at least three full days besides the "flu vacation" during that eventful term.

This will directly affect the gridiron prospects for next year's Red and Black followers, the rule applying to the cases of Cecil Wilson and Russell Eiffler, two of the stars of this year's eleven. Wilson, at left end, was one of the leading wing men of the circuit throughout the past season, and his presence in the 1922 line-up will greatly enhance the locals' chances for a pennant. Eiffler, although out of half of this year's games, is a steady lineman and Coach Hayhurst is already planning on using him to plug up several feet of space in next fall's contests.

Auto Accident Victims Are Guests at Dinner

Mrs. J. N. McGillis of 1003 East Lomita avenue was hostess Thursday night at a five course dinner party, her guests being her son, Frank, and his four young men friends who were injured in an automobile accident near Bakersfield several weeks ago. The affair afforded the quintet the first chance of meeting together since the accident and proved to be an enjoyable event for all concerned. Several of the young men had just been out of the hospital since last week, they having outdone their doctors' predictions, which stated that they would be in bed six months.

Following the dinner the boys enjoyed themselves by a discussion of "the wreck" and a general good time. Those who took part in the festivities were John Elder, Carroll Canbern, Warren King, Louis Keisling and Frank McGillis. The four guests are residents of Los Angeles.

Helen White to Give Number at Institute

Helen White, pupil at the Intermediate school, has promised to give a whistling solo in the auditorium of the Olive Street school, 219 South Olive street, Los Angeles next Thursday night in connection with a penmanship session of the county teachers' institute. She is a daughter of Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, and has made several appearances as a whistler locally.

On the same program a demonstration will be given by several of the pupils of Mrs. Clara Swaim, supervisor of penmanship in the Burbank schools.

Fire Station for Northwest Section Is Under Consideration

Fire Chief A. H. Lankford and City Manager W. H. Reeves have been conferring on the advisability of the city establishing a fire house in the northwest section of the city. Since annexing territory contiguous to Burbank, which is being rapidly settled with fine residences, it is thought wise to have one of the four fire trucks stationed in closer proximity to these homes.

While the subject has not been acted upon officially, it is suggested by City Manager Reeves that if the city were granted a convenient location in the vicinity of Sixth and Grand View avenues, a bungalow fire house could be erected and one of the married firemen installed there permanently as truck driver.

By this means fire fighting equipment would arrive at the scene of a conflagration three to five minutes earlier than the engines from the two downtown stations. Anybody who realizes the vast expanse of territory within the corporate limits will readily appreciate the advisability of such a move, officials state.

Average Attendance at High School Greater

The average attendance at the high school is about 200 greater this term than last, according to Miss Myrtle Pulliam, secretary of the institution, who has just finished compiling enrollment figures for the state board of education. She has found that the average daily attendance is 1122 students, of which number thirty-four are enrolled in night school and 1088 in regular classes. Last year the average attendance was around 800.

Miss Pulliam stated that the average attendance always dropped considerably during the month of December on account of the holiday "fever," but that it would pick up again immediately in January.

Knights Templar Will Hold Reception Here

Pasadena, Hollywood and Alhambra Commanderies of Knights Templar will join Glendale Commandery No. 53, of which Daniel Campbell is commander, in the reception to be given Monday night, December 19, at the Masonic Temple on South Brand boulevard, in honor of Eminent Grand Commander White of the grand commandery of the state of California and other grand officers, who at that time will pay their annual visitation. For this occasion the Knights will be in full Templar uniform. After the lodge session there will be refreshments.

MUSICAL AFTERNOON IS PRESENTED BY THURSDAY CLUB

Program and Social Time for Members and Guests; Open Forum Being Planned

Over sixty members and friends of the Thursday Afternoon Club gathered at the Hartzell Studio, at Brand boulevard and Laurel street, Thursday to enjoy the splendid musical program and social afternoon.

During the business meeting an announcement was made to the effect that Dr. Jessie Russell will have charge of the programs at the open forum meetings to be held under the auspices of the club at the old city hall every first Wednesday of the month, during the coming year. Dr. Russell is planning to provide able speakers to discuss up-to-the-minute civic questions concerning the welfare of the city.

The club members are all enthusiastic over these forum meetings and believe that they will prove of great benefit to the general public as well as to the club, helping to keep them in touch with the current events of the city.

Musical Program Enjoyed

The musical program was very pleasing, being furnished by "The Strolling Musicians," the Misses Haller, Ewing and Seyler, with Miss Mellick, accompanist. The young women are professional entertainers and presented a very finished entertainment.

Dr. Jessie Russell was the speaker of the afternoon. She discussed at length the Convention of the League of the Southwest, which was held at Riverside recently, and was attended by delegates from seven states. The object of the league is the development and control of the Colorado river. The federal hearing on the river problems held at San Diego by Secretary of the Interior Fall was also attended by Dr. Russell and in her talk she touched on the various arguments used by the delegates at the two conventions.

A pleasing social hour followed the program and light refreshments were served by the social committee.

Cerritos Wins Pennant In Volleyball Series

The volley ball game played Thursday between the first teams of Cerritos and Intermediate schools on the grounds at Cerritos, and won by the latter, was the fifth and final fame and also the closest game played this season. With two games to the credit of each, they went into the game, determined to win. The splendid work by both teams called forth many comments of admiration among the spectators.

The first third was won by Cerritos, 15 to 10. The second by Intermediate, 15 to 5. The last stood 14 to 14 until the last play when Cerritos scored the winning point. This gives Cerritos the pennant which is purchased by the athletic associations of the two schools.

Line up for Cerritos; Harriette Light, captain; Pearle Mentzer, Martha Hartzell, Ruth Wilson, Mary Jane LaPoint, Edna Strong, Marjorie Gilhuly, Olive Gulick, Florence McCoubery, Julia Steelman.

Intermediate, Barbara Kranz, captain; Bernice Collins, Dorothea Humans, Helen Hone, Zelda Kocher, Dorothy Hertzog, Florence Knight, Eleanor Kopp, Consuela Mirano, Mabel Horner.

Miss McKay of Cerritos, refereed.

Likes His Wife, but Oh, You Red Flannel!

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—George Henry Aiken, thought more of his red flannel undershirt than he did of the affection of his wife, Rita May Aiken, according to the testimony of the latter today in Judge Summerfield's court.

She said they were married Dec. 1, 1919, at which time Aiken wore the undershirt and she declared he continued to wear it night and day, despite her objections until March 23, 1920, when, being unable to divorce her husband from the aforesaid red flannel undershirt, she left and filed suit to divorce herself from both the husband and his garment. The decree was granted.

Mrs. Aiken had other grievances also. She told the court that her husband had a rather annoying habit of expectorating on the ceiling as he lay in bed.

Mrs. H. V. Brown of 144 North Orange street entertained at luncheon yesterday for the members of the 1913 club of the Los Angeles' Matrons of O. E. S., of which she is a member. The guests included Mrs. Lydia Woods, Mrs. Brayden, Mrs. Frank Asbury, Mrs. E. J. Baldwin, Mrs. Fannie Hall, Mrs. J. L. Butler, Mrs. E. M. Frost, Mrs. Caroline Fulton, Mrs. Ella Chandler, Mrs. W. T. W. Griffen Heads Improvement Club Recently Organized Organization of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association was effected last Wednesday night at the store and office of W. Griffen, plumber, at San Fernando and Windsor Roads. More than 20 property owners of the vicinity were present.

The necessity for such an organization seemed evident so as to co-operate with other civic agencies aiding in the city's progress. Officers were elected as follows: W. Griffen, president; L. H. Wilson, secretary; A. Anderson, vice-president, and A. M. Salyer, treasurer.

Others present included E. N. Davis, C. E. Brown, A. J. Thorpe, Homer Roberts, H. S. Cobb, L. W. Baganza, Walter Lee, C. W. Wilson, J. H. Douglass, N. Brown, J. B. Zimmerman, J. W. Carroll, Roy Johnson, M. R. Best, J. Fuhrman, J. C. Smith, J. J. Burke, William Moffitt and B. Green.

Plans were made for another meeting to be held the evening of January 5, when a program of improvements for San Fernando boulevard will be outlined by a committee.

Patrolman Anthony Makes Big Capture; He Does, Doggone It!

Patrolman C. H. Anthony staggered into the city hall police station last night dragging a heavy rope, evidently tied to someone.

Desk Sergeant James Mann looked up and gasped. "Back to his old tricks of lassoing his quarry," was his thought of Anthony. "Wonder who he's bringing in?"

The rope was tied to the biggest dog Mr. Mann had ever seen. Patrolman Louis Nunn was pushing the inanimate canine and it was still at the station today.

"The Glendale Music Company has such a stock in its store it couldn't get the big Victor advertising dog inside," said Anthony. "Somebody had dragged it down to Spohr's drug store corner so Nunn and I decided we had better bring it to the station for safe keeping."

Letters to Be Given Intermediate Athletes

The closing of the fall athletic season at the Intermediate school will be marked by a special assembly just before school is dismissed for Christmas vacation. The members of the first teams in soccer and volleyball will be awarded their letters by Clarence Albach, president of the Athletic association. Early practice for basketball has already begun and Coach Whytock has a large number of candidates who aspire to make the first team.

To win a letter at the Intermediate school a boy must have played in four school games, a girl can win a letter by playing in two winning games. The first season a boy or girl "wins their letter" they receive a small letter, the second season they receive a star for that letter and the third season they make good athletically they receive a large letter and a star for each succeeding team they make.

Excavating Is Started For Jensen Building

Excavation is now well under way in the only vacant space on the west side of Brand boulevard between Broadway and Wilson avenue.

Robert S. Jensen, 369 Myrtle avenue, stated this morning that the lot, 53 by 150, would be occupied by a two-story building to be owned and managed by the Jensen family.

After excavating the south half of the lot to a depth of about eight feet since yesterday noon, the steam shovel at 11 o'clock this morning pulled itself out of the hollow and prepared to start in on the north half. Mr. Jensen asserted that the work was being done in this manner in order that there might be no danger of a collapse of the walls of the buildings on either side. While the north half of the lot is being excavated, steps will be taken to strengthen the north wall of the Sam Seelig building.

Thornycroft Veterans Pleasantly Surprised

The ex-service men at Thornycroft Hospital were very pleasantly surprised Thursday afternoon when four automobiles filled with students and accompanied by the principal, Mrs. M. L. Smith, of the 61st street school of Los Angeles, motored out to give the boys a Christmas treat.

A very entertaining program was presented by these young people, as follows: Selections by the girls' glee club; "Fairy" dance by Jessie Smillie; a story was told by Helen Birdsell, in a very interesting manner; fancy dance by Jessie Smiley; two numbers by the girls' glee club closed the program.

Each boy was the recipient of a lovely bouquet and a box of candy, the greater portion of the candy having been made by the girls. The music was directed by Miss Mildred Blume.

ASSOCIATION PLANS TO CAMPAIGN FOR EAST SIDE SITE

Details Are Discussed and Organized Effort to Be Put Forth, Is Decided

Ways and means of bringing the advantages of the east side high school site before the voters were discussed in detail last night at the Broadway school by members of the Glendale Improvement association.

R. W. Meeker, 1320 East Colorado avenue, stated that he thought the time for argument and debate was over and that the thing to do was for everybody, who was really interested in the selection of this site, to get out and work. He promised to canvass Tujunga personally.

S. C. Wheeler, 1320 East Harvard avenue, was instructed by the assembly to collect $50 or $100 to be expended for printed postcards, outlining the points of superiority of the site, to be mailed to every registered voter in the district. Arrangements in regard to them were left in the hands of a committee.

Work Is Outlined

W. D. Root, 110 Olive street, outlined the work which the executive committee had done since the last meeting.

Rev. A. B. Smart, 110 Olive street, explained the relationship of the west side site to the wash from a home-made map. He called attention to the fact that it was only a short distance from the lowest elevation in the valley.

J. C. Sherer, who presided, asserted that it was very important that the exact size and acreage of the Grey site should be ascertained in order that the voters might know what they were buying.

There is only seventeen and a half acres in the west side site, according to Rev. Smart, who declared that he had secured official figures and checked them up very carefully.

Members of the Greater Glendale Improvement association were not present at the meeting.

R. A. Elrod, 1651 Gardena avenue, stated that he had been electioneering every day in southern Glendale. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that this part of the city needed the most campaigning.

J. F. Chandler, 809 East Harvard avenue, stated that he would canvass six square blocks around his home.

The next meeting will be held next Thursday night at the Broadway school.

POSTOFFICE NOT ROBBED

Rumors of the robbery of the local postoffice shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon were false, both police and postal officials stating that the excitement created by officers rushing there was caused by an endeavor to apprehend a man wanted in another state on a felony charge.

C. of C. Reception Will Take Place on Next Tuesday Night

For one time in his life, at least, James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, provided the whole show—showing people around the new headquarters which were to have been formally dedicated last night.

But for the fact that there was an element of danger in overloading the building before the Pendroy Dry Goods Company storebuilding owners could build a retaining wall on the adjacent lot, there would have been a reception program in which Mr. Rhoades would have had little to do other than to see everybody else was enjoying the affair.

The program, just as advertised, will be given next Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce building, but instead of using the second floor banquet hall, the room on the first floor to be occupied the first of the year by the Glenn Inn will be utilized.

More than 100 people visited the Chamber headquarters last night in full expectancy of being entertained and Mr. Rhoades spent until 11 o'clock showing groups of members about the building. They were impressed by the substantial structure and could see no danger in holding the meeting there last night although builders felt the retaining wall should be in place.

HOLD UP BUILDERS' CAMP; MAN SHOT, CHASE IN AUTOS

Number of Workmen Covered by Bandits' Guns While Valuables Are Taken

One man was shot, $60 in cash and three watches taken by bandits who last night held up the bridge builders' camp on the state highway between Sunland and San Fernando, according to a report brought to the Glendale police by W. J. Walker.

About 9 o'clock two men appeared, the larger walking into the tent where the workmen were assembled and proceeded to order them to produce pocketbooks, timepieces and other valuables. One recalcitrant fellow remonstrated because of this being the Christmas season and stated he needed the money for filling the kiddies' stockings.

One Man Shot, Report

This seemed to infuriate the bandit who shot him in the arm, according to Walker's story. A free-for-all fight would have followed, but just at that moment a confederate outside of the tent covered the crowd with a second gun.

The robbers made away in a motorcar with two machines from the road camp in hot pursuit, but the "flivvers" were no match for the bandit car and the chase through the Monte Vista Valley ended at Montrose.

GERMANY TODAY CONFESSES TO NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—The German crash has come. Germany virtually confesses national bankruptcy. The German note to the inter-allied reparations commission, announcing that the government cannot pay the indemnity installments due in January and February, was the chief topic of conversation in official circles and the press. "The note was the culmination of a crisis long foreseen," said the Centrist newspaper Germania, organ of Chancellor Wirth. "The chancellor honestly tried to fulfill his promises and the country's pledges." Chancellor Wirth has appealed to all political parties in the reichstag to give him a vote of confidence before Christmas.

TAG DAY CAPTAINS CHOSEN; FUNDS TO FINANCE FLOAT

Number of Helpers Will Work in Different Districts of Glendale on Saturday

Plans for "tag day," which will be held tomorrow, to finance the construction of a float to be entered by Glendale in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena on New Year's, are rapidly being completed by the committee of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club, which organization will be in charge of the sale of tags on this day.

Dr. Laura Brown, chairman in charge, and Mrs. Margaret Biggs, president of the club, state that the following captains have been selected to be in charge of the various stations:

Mrs. A. Walton, Broadway and Brand boulevard; Mrs. H. V. Brown, Brand and Wilson; Dr. Hannah L. Hukill, Brand and California; Miss Blanche Warner, Brand and Harvard; Dr. Caroline Paine-Jackman, Brand and Colorado; Miss Brosseau, Broadway and Central; Dr. Esther Hurt and Dr. Elsie Haveman, Broadway and Louise street; Mrs. Mabel Judd, Broadway and Jackson street; Mrs. Jack Thomas, Broadway and Glendale avenue; Mrs. D. Brown, Park and Brand boulevard; Mrs. Margaret Biggs, Brand and Los Feliz; Miss Grace Osborne, Doran and Columbus avenue; Mrs. M. P. Moberly, Los Feliz and San Fernando; Mrs. Cora Ayers, Stocker and Central avenue; Miss Sara Pollard and Miss Gertrude Gibbs, theatres.

To Serve in Shifts

Each captain will have at least ten helpers. The helpers will serve four hours each. There will be only three stations during the evening, at Brand and Broadway, which during the evening will be in charge of Miss Ethel Preston, and at the theatres. Any business woman or high school girl who can spare any time in helping in the sale of tags has been asked to communicate with Dr. Laura Brown, Glendale 1000-J. Not any of the high school girls will be asked to serve later than 5 o'clock.

The enthusiasm of the club members has been shown in a big determination to put "tag day" over as a big success. It is desired that enough money will be obtained from the sale of tags, which will be sold from 25 cents up, to purchase flowers for the float, so that after New Year's day no fund will have to be raised to make up any deficit.

Slogan Is Chosen

The club members individually have been requested to solicit their own neighborhood in advance. Some members have already turned in as high as $10 which has been collected in this way.

"Buy a tag to help build a prize-winning float" and further advertise Glendale, the fastest growing city of its class in the United States, will be the watchword of tag day.

terest in the stone cabin built four years ago in San Gabriel Canyon, and will also hold its camp site in the mountains at Pine Flats.

"The step taken by the meeting means that it is now up to Glendale to carry on its own Y. M. C. A. work," says Mr. Kelley. "The growth of the Hi-Y work and the enthusiasm that has been shown for it in Glendale is responsible for the new organization."

At the meeting Mr. Kelley gave the report for the past three months which outlined the activities of the Hi-Y in Glendale as follows:

Five Hi-Y groups functioning with an enrollment of 70, besides a Hi-Y group in Burbank with an enrollment of 15; sixteen grammar school, Y. M. C. A. groups with an enrollment of 192; one training conference was held for the group leaders in November, and another training conference has been scheduled for December 16; the theme for leadership this month is "Evangelistic and Sex Education." Speakers heard during the past three months were, —one lawyer, three doctors, one missionary, two bankers, one college president, one college coach, three college athletes and two artists.

Besides these activities the Hi-Y boys assisted in hikes and play periods for the younger boys, had four representatives and one leader at the Hi-Y training camp, had twenty-six representatives at the Seventeenth Older Boys' Conference at Santa Barbara, had one deputation team, held one deep sea fishing trip, and served a banquet at the start of the year's work in September, a banquet to the Hi-Y cabinet, a banquet to the high school football team, and a banquet to Harry Rimmer, Pacific coast athlete, with Alhambra and Burbank delegations as guests.

A swimming party was held for the grammar school group, one overnight camp and one three-day camp at the cabin, besides a Saturday afternoon hike. Three groups went on picnics and one inter-group football game was held. Forty-eight boys participated in the games held at the play festival at Puente last Saturday afternoon, in charge of Harry Rimmer.

Besides all this work, Mr. Kelley says many boys were helped to make the great decision in life and became affiliated with the churches of the city.

Second Unit of Kenneth Heights Tract Will Open

Tomorrow will see the second unit of Kenneth Heights subdivided and thrown onto the local realty market by Huntley & Evans through the agencies of Dan Campbell and William McMillan. In less than ten days' active selling the first unit has been cleaned up with the exception of a couple of lots. The demand for the better locations made it advisable to throw the new unit on the market immediately and everyone interested in Kenneth road property is invited to see the homesites offered this week end.

The plat of lots was passed through the council last night and the engineers are laying stakes today. While street work, gas, water and electricity are all provided in the sale contract it is believed that all of the property will be in the hands of homebuilders before this work is completed. The tract of twenty-six lots is the last piece of the knoll above Kenneth road between Pacific and Grand View avenues.

Dramatic Art Studio to Present Program

The following program will be given Saturday night at the Dramatic Art Studio, 101 North Cedar street, by the members of the dancing department, marking the close of the first term, and to which an invitation has been extended to the public to attend:

"Indian Searching for an Enemy," pantomime, by Margaret Schuch; "Pipes of Pan," by Edith McIntyre; "The Flower Girl," pantomime, by Portia Chambers; Egyptian dance by the class; "Fairy in Field of Poppies," by Ardith Keltner; "Echo and Narcissus," by Margaret Schuch and Edith McIntyre; "Three Wise Men," pantomime, by Edith McIntyre; "The Shepherd," pantomime, by Margaret Schuch; "Scarf Dance," by Portia Chambers; "Lame Man at the Pool," pantomime, by Edith Addison; "Moonbeams," by Margaret Schuch; "Grecian Priestess," by Edith Addison.

Miss Dorothy Wright, who is in charge of the dancing department, has gained considerable note in the production of terpsichorean pageants, in which she has taken part as soloist, and in programs in which she has appeared. She is a pupil of the Noyes school of rythmic expression, and illustrates by interpretative dancing the use and relation of rhythmic expression to body and mind.

PERFECTION OF FORM

Poe lacked deep convictions of any kind, profound human experience, genuineness, and wealth of nature. His art is correspondingly superficial and artificial. Nevertheless, his work is sure to live because of its perfection of form. He is a masterly technician—the first of the decadents—the forerunner of the practicers of art for art's sake.

WARRANTS SERVED ON MEMBERS OF 'AMAZON ARMY'

FRANKLIN, Kans., Dec. 16.—Backed by the steel bayonets and old fashioned cavalry sabers of state troopers, the law began today to exact its penalty for the rioting in the Kansas coal fields. Sheriff Milt Gould and his deputies at noon began serving between 500 and 600 warrants on members of the "Amazon army" in this district, the stronghold of the militant women marchers. The new jail, recently built here will hold but sixty women. Sheriff Gould stated, however, that the arrests today will no more than fill the jail. Additional quarters for prisoners will be ready by the time he serves the remainder of the warrants.

FRANCE INTENDS TO BUILD TEN SUPER-DREADNAUGHTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Before the big three had hardly done congratulating themselves today on the amicable adjustment of the 5-5-3 naval ratio question, fresh complications were threatened over the question of France's ratio. An official spokesman for the British delegation was authority for the statement this morning that France has served notice on the powers that France intends to build ten super-dreadnaughts in the ten years subsequent to 1925. It was also announced officially by the British spokesman that A. J. Balfour, as head of the British delegation, will formally propose to the five great powers the complete abolition of submarines.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—Twenty witnesses who will attack five vital points in the prosecution's case and give testimony in support of the insanity plea made in behalf of the defendant will be called by the defense in the trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, it was announced today by Paul W. Schenck, chief counsel for the accused man. SUICIDE OF CALIFORNIA CONGRESSMAN UNDER INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Private investigations were being made to determine the facts behind the death of Representative J. A. Elston, of California, whose body was found floating in the Potomac river last night. Representative Elston's coat, found on the river bank, contained a note which said: "I am in a chain of circumstances that spell ruin although my offense was innocently made in the beginning. I hope all the facts will come out. My staying means embarrassment to my district and to a worthy people, clean and generous." Representative Barbour of California, a close friend of Elston, was at loss today to explain the act of his colleague. He said in recent conversations, however, Elston had seemed to be worried over the proposed naval base at Alameda, California. "I cannot see why the Alameda proposition should worry Elston to such an extent that he would end his life," said Barbour.

IRISH TREATY IS RATIFIED BY BRITISH PARLIAMENT

LONDON, DEC. 16.—Both branches of British parliament ratified the Irish peace treaty this evening. Neither house took a division, the approval being unanimous. Commons ratified at ten minutes after 5 o'clock and the house of peers gave its approval a few minutes later. Both houses voted down an amendment rejecting King George's speech at the opening of parliament on Wednesday. The vote in commons was 401 to 58; that in the upper house was 166 to 47. Parliament has taken a recess until Monday pending the decision of Dail Eireann upon the treaty.

Cop Didn't Blame Girl's Kimono for Failing to Behave

HONOLULU, T. H.—"I just can't make my kimono behave," is the latest at Waikiki.

After the Hawaiian Legislature passed the now famous "bathing suit bill" at its last session, making it a misdemeanor for persons attired for the beach to appear upon the public highway unless clad in an over-garment "extending below the knees," the residents of the beach district resignedly obeyed the new mandate. Then one day somebody forgot and walked to the beach clad only in a bathing suit. No arrest followed. The news spread, and others tried it. Still no arrests.

Then aquatic Honolulu said, in effect, "We'll obey the law in letter, but not in spirit," and proceeded to stroll from home to the beach with the required overgarment on—but unbottoned and fluttering lightly about in the breeze!

But it was too good to last. Somebody with an over-developed conscience went to Police Headquarters and reported conditions, calling attention to the fact that "charms partially revealed" are the most alluring. An officer was sent to investigate and reported that it was true, all of it. He was sent back, with instructions to do his duty—and the first offender to cross his beat was a fit candidate for a Sennett feature! And this was her reply to his warning:

"Certainly, Mr. Officer, I intend to obey the law—but, you see, I simply can't make this kimono behave!"

And the arm of the law looked—and didn't blame the kimono one bit!

Now what can the poor cops do against that sort of thing?

J. M. STADT LEADS ELK TOURNAMENT OF BILLIARDS

Play Comes to Close on Friday Night, Dec. 30; Complete Standings to Date

The members of the committee in charge of the Glendale Elks' Handicap Billiard Tournament, which has been under way for the past four weeks, held a special meeting at the club headquarters Wednesday, following which the announcement was made to the effect that the season's play will come to a close on Friday night, December 30. In case that some of the contestants will have failed to have completed all of their games by that time their standings will be taken as final.

At that time the four players with the highest percentage of games won of the total played will be awarded the four special prizes. The handicaps chosen by the committee at the beginning of the tournament were arbitrarily selected, the main purpose of the entire campaign being that of getting definite "lines" on the cue artists for the big House Tournament, which is scheduled to take place shortly after the first of the year.

S. Berman States His Opinions on Postoffice Site

Editor The Evening News—Regarding Dr. Harrower's comments upon the new postoffice location it would seem that, as the Doctor suggests, we should deal with facts. Therefore, perhaps in order to avoid confusion of the facts, we should not inject ancient history in the discussion, but attack the problem from the standpoint of where we are today.

I would suggest that a committee of the different interests get together and see what can be worked out for the benefit of all. The logical location for the postoffice is the place where it will serve the greatest number of people to the most practical advantage. I believe the postoffice department will have something of interest to say along that line.

If it is simply a question of bidding and the highest bidder to get the choice of location, we, of Brand boulevard, will probably be interested.

The question is, are we a "small town" to fight over the location of the postoffice, or are we a growing and progressive city, able to discuss our problems around the council table?

S. BERMAN.

EASTERN RAILROADS TELL COMMISSION ABOUT FINANCES

Detailed Statements Issued by Officials; Plea for a Reduction in Wages

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—Eastern railroads laid bare their financial condition and the outlook for the immediate future when the Interstate Commerce Commission started a detailed examination of all the railroad finances in the country. The figures presented by the eastern carriers will provide the foundation for the contention by all of the railroads later that rate revisions and reductions can be made in justice to them only in the event that there is a corresponding reduction in wages and in other operating expenses.

E. E. Shriver, vice president in charge of accounts of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, appeared as spokesman for the eastern roads. In addition to presenting the data and statistics for them, Shriver gave many of the essential facts for the railroads for the country as a whole and laid the foundation for the general tack on operating costs and wage scales.

The railroad spokesmen have intimated taht they are favorable to rate reductions, but only in the event that wages and other operating expenses are reduced at the same time.

For Lower Wage Schedules

The keynote of the attack of the carriers on the wage schedule was sounded by Howard Elliott, chairman of the board of the Northern Pacific railroad. He asserted that "a sound policy with the labor leaders would seem to admit that deflation must come and allow lower wage scales on the railroads, in the mines, in the building trades, all of which mean greater employment of men and a lower unit price on many articles and commodities used by all, thus reducing the cost of living and helping to break the present endless chain of expenses."

The increases in wages paid to the employes in the last three years, amounting to $2,250,000,000, is to be a point of attack.

In presenting figures covering the financial condition of American railroads for the past several years, Shriver said it would require a long period and extensive work on the part of all concerned to put the transportation system of the country on the same basis as before the war.

No More Experiments

"In view of this situation," Shriver said, "the railroads are not in a position to experiment beyond what they already have done in lowering rates.

"The country needs a strong and effective transportation system and it does not appear to be in the interest of the public that rates should be reduced until the deflation processes now operating toward a pre-war level of costs, have been more completely realized."

Shriver submitted figures to show that the decrease in passenger revenue for 1921 amounted to 18 or 20 per cent, compared with last year. He told the commission that the net income for this year is one third less than in any of the average test periods used to make comparisons.

LEGAL ACTION EXPENSIVE

FAIRMONT, W. V.—It costs a good bit to go to law sometimes. For an entire week the Marion county Circuit court here gave its attention to a damage suit of Mrs. Maggie Blackwell against the Monongahela Power and Railway company for damages done to an automobile when it was smashed between a traction car and a locomotive. A jury awarded the plaintiff $378.15.

COMICAL MUSICIANS HEADLINERS FOR T. D. & L. BILL

'Something Different' Is Being Offered on Program for Tonight and Saturday

Those comical fellows, the De Michelle brothers, are the stars of the vaudeville road show at the T. D. L. theatre today and tomorrow. These musicians are quite different from most of the players of today and real comedy will be found in their act which they call "Can't Keep 'Em Up."

Quite as entertaining and very different is the offering of Fox and Ingram, two young men who sing and play the piano in a most pleasing manner. Their songs are new here and they present them in a most approved fashion.

Herbert Bethew and his company have a refreshing little drama filled with brilliant lines and clever twists of plot which is entitled. "Day Dreams." The sketch has to do with a young woman who returns to her home town after several years and again meets her old sweetheart.

Henry Sherr is known everywhere as the principal comedian of the Broadway Follies and together with a partner he is presenting his vaudeville offering "For Heving's Sake."

In "The Lost Romance," which is the feature photoplay for today and tomorrow, will be found a story which is most unusual and a fine cast which includes Jack Holt, Conrad Nagel and Lois Wilson.

DENIES BANK WILL BUILD

Denial that the Glendale National bank had present intention of erecting a new building on the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road in the near future was made this morning by Daniel Campbell, president of the institution. He said the directors owned the site in question, but stated they also own the site and building in which the bank is now located at 1267 South Brand boulevard. Mr. Campbell admitted that there might be a possibility of a change in the distant future, but that the bank was in the midst of its clients and well satisfied.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The news that Fulton has been offered a return match with Jack Dempsey leaves one quite cold as far as any particular interest or enthusiasm is concerned. Fulton is a confessed faker, and there is no real reason why ring fans should warm up particularly to anything with which he is connected.

The attempts to drag this or that team into a post season game and the haggling over the division of the gate receipts which has been going on of late in California is a matter that intercollegiate conference should go after and put an end to with immediate dispatch. The extent to which it has been carried during the last few weeks is little less than a scandal. Unless more seemly ways and means are employed to bring about such a game, it would be better not to attempt it.

The attitude of the University of California athletic officials in the matter of arranging a post season game has been anything but dignified and, to the rank outsider, it looks mightily as though politics and commercialism were distating the entire matter. This from a university which should be among the first to see to it that nothing that even savors of these things could creep in.

One wonders whether or not the temporary athletic successes which have crowned the efforts of the University of California have not turned the heads of the entire university body from the faculty down, or up, as the case may be. The scramble the Californians have made to hurl their challenges to the world at large in all branches of sport has done little more than elicit a tolerant smile from the rest of the university circles of the country.

When you get right down to it, why the post season game? After the season closes for any sport, attention is directed in other channels. "A place for everything, and everything in its place," is an old adage which might well be applied to athletics, particularly when they take on the opera bouffe aspect of the recent negotiations for an East versus West game.

It doesn't make a bit of difference now what teams are finally selected to meet each other on Christmas or New Year's day, it will be quite impossible for it to carry the interest that last season's game between the University of California and Ohio State elicited. As stated and predicted in these columns some time ago, the affair has already degenerated into a scramble to get any old team that is willing to come along. The idea of bringing the best of the East and West teams has been entirely lost sight of in the mad effort to stage a game.

The first move will be to get the game out of the hands of real estate agents and Chambers of Commerce and for the universities themselves to handle the matter. Not until then will the matter deserve any attention.

SPORTS CHATTER

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Looking backward, the year 1921 has been a series of uninterrupted victories for Uncle Sam in almost every branch of competitive sports between nations. American supremacy was well established in such international sporting events as tennis, track and field, boxing, golf, polo, motor boat racing, automobile racing and rifle competition.

In all sports o finternational competition, with the one exception of men's golf the United States reigns supreme. Even in men's golf honors would seem to rest with Uncle Sam as Jock Hutchinson took the British pro title, while Mitchell and Duncan failed in this country, but Jock is not American-born and learned his golf abroad.

Here is a partial record of international sports:

BOXING—Jack Dempsey K. O.'D Georges Carpentier, France, 4 rds.; Pete Herman, bantam, K. O.'d Jimmy Wilde, British, 17 rds.

MEN'S TENNIS—Tilden, Johnston, Williams, Washburn defended the Davis cup against Japan in challenge round winning five straight. Tilden won British title; also world hard court in France.

WOMEN'S TENNIS—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, Norwegian born, but U. S. citizen, lost to Mlle. Lenglen, France, but when Suzanne came to this country Mrs. Mallory won easily, the French girl defaulting after the first set.

MEN'S GOLF—Jesse Guilford won national amateur title in which Hunter, British champion, and Tom Armour, Scotland, reached match play rounds. Hunter won British title after elimination of formidable U. S. team. Jim Barnes won open title. Abe Mitchell, England did not turn in final score and George Duncan, England, was well down list. Jock Hutchinson of Glen View won British open title.

WOMEN'S GOLF—Marion Hollis won national title. Miss Cecil Leitch was eliminated in early rounds Miss Leitch is British champion. Miss Leitch won Canadian title from Miss Alexa Sterling.

INTERNATIONAL POLO CUP—American teams composed of Devereux, Milburn, Hitchcock, Stoddard and Webb, challengers, lifted the cup defeating England.

AUTOMOBILE RACING — Jimmy Murphy, U. S., won the Grand Prix, Paris.

MOTOR BOAT RACING—Maple Leaf VII, challenger, sank in races at Detroit for Harmsworth cup. ' Miss America II defending for the U. S.

TRACK AND FIELD—Combined Harvard-Yale team combined Oxford-Cambridge varsity team. Princeton-Cornell team tied with Oxford-Cambridge team. French relay team easily defeated at Penn. Relay carnival.

INTERNATIONAL RIFLE COMPETITION—American team won at Geneva, but Swiss, who had won several years in succession, protested that the U. S. team used artificial aids that had an advantage in sighting, etc.

SWIMMING—American team composed of Ludy Langer, Kealoha, Harris won principal international events and set world records in Australia.

SALE OF SEATS FOR GAME IN PASADENA OPENS DEC. 20

Two Prices for Big Football Classic; Limit of Tickets to Any One Purchaser

Announcement is made by the Tournament of Roses association that the sale of seats for the annual "East and West" football classic at Pasadena, will open on the morning of Tuesday, December 20. There will be two box-offices—one in Pasadena and one in Los Angeles.

The football teams to play this year are those of Washington and Jefferson, one of the three or four undefeated football teams of the Atlantic seaboard, and the University of California team. Neither team has lost a game during the season, and sports writers are a unit in stating that they expect the easterners will give the California "wonder team" a hard tussle.

There are but two prices on tickets this year—$2.50 plus the war tax and $5 plus the war tax. The Tournament of Roses officials state that mail orders accompanied by check, money order or cash will be accepted and filled in the order of receipt and until all remaining seats are sold.

Rules Regarding Sale

There will be no further sale of seats for the new stadium until after January 1. Those holding stadium receipts will have first choice of seats for the New Year's game this time and after that the general public will be privileged to purchase the remaining seats.

No individual is to be permitted to purchase more than ten tickets for the game with the exception of bona fide secretaries of Chambers of Commerce who may take orders and purchase tickets for the several communities they represent if they so desire.

The box office in Pasadena will be in the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce rooms in the east building of the Hotel Green. Mail orders for seats should, however, be sent directly to the Tournament of Roses association.

Reductions in Freight Rates Are Authorized

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—An average cut of 10 per cent in freight rates in California on farm products was authorized by the State Railroad commission.

The reduction in rates is to be effective Jan. 1.

This action follows the authorization by the Interstate Commerce Commission for a "general reduction of rates on hay and grain."

Application to put into effect the proposed reduction was made by F. W. Gomph, agent for all the steam and electric lines engaged in freight carrying in this state. The Interstate Commerce commission order to the carriers called for a reduction of 12½ per cent on hay and grain products only.

In authorizing the general 10 per cent reduction the California commission held it was much more beneficial to the farmers of the state as a whole than the slightly greater reduction on grain and hay alone. The products to which the ten per cent cut in freight rates apply are: Grain and grain products; hay; manufactured tobacco; cotton; cottonseed products; fresh fruits; dried fruits; fresh and dried vegetables; livestock; poultry; butter, eggs, and cheese, wool.

Marshal Foch Departs, Wrapped in U. S. Flag

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Wrapped in an American flag, a gift to him from the city of New York, Marshal Foch was wished "bon voyage" by this city and the nation as he started on his return voyage to France. In a farewell address to him, made by Rodman Wanamaker, the marshal was hailed as the "Napoleon of Napoleons."

Following a ceremony at city hall, in which the marshal was again presented by Mayor Hylan with a scroll representing the freedom of the city, Marshal Foch reviewed the fifteenth regiment of the New York guard, the only unit of the American army which served continuously with the French. He was escorted by the same body of troops through cheering lines of people to the French line piers, where he sailed for home aboard the Paris.

The French marshal carried with him a diamond brooch for Madame Foch, presented to him for her by the city.

Seven Prisoners Make Escape at Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 16.—While the police at headquarters less than 100 feet away were scheming how to capture "terrible Tommy" O'Connor, fleeing Chicago convict, who was erroneously reported here, seven prisoners in the city jail sawed the bars off their second floor cells and dropped to the ground by mean sof blankets. All seven escaped.

The entire police force had been summoned to headquarters, Chief Saunders having received a "tip" that O'Connor was here and was preparing to blow up a Des Moines bank.

The seven who escaped included Henry and Alfred Todd of the notorious Todd gang.

Jonathan Dodge May Enter Governor Fight

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—Jonathan Dodge, State Superintendent of Banks, who is in Los Angeles on official business, admitted he is a receptive candidate for governor, to succeed Governor Stephens, in the event that Governor Stephens does not seek a re-election.

"I am much pleased with my present work, as it is in line with my desires of accomplishment," said Mr. Dodge to a representative of the International News Service. If Governor Stephens enters the race for re-election, I would not care to have my name mentioned as a receptive candidate for the governorship. In the event, however, that Governor Stephens plans to retire to private life that is another matter and, of course, my position would be guided by the attitude of my friends.

U. S. ARMY IS BELOW NATIONAL SAFETY ABOUT 50,000

Chief of Staff Reports on Number of Troops Needed to Secure Protection

By HARRY L. ROGERS.
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—The United States army is 50,000 below the minimum strength required for national safety, according to the declaration of the chief of staff in his annual report, just made public.

The "irreducible minimum" strength of the regular army "consistent with public safety," the chief of staff asserted, is 200,000, exclusive of Philippine scouts.

Forty thousand troops are necessary for overseas garrison, including Porto Rico, Panama, Hawaii, the Philippines, Alaska and China, the chief of staff explained. This does not include the forces necessary for manning coast artillery defenses, estimated at 20,000 or twice the number provided under present plans for limiting the army to 150,000 men.

Training Is Necessary

Since the United States is dependent in time of war on its citizen soldiery, the general staff lays particular emphasis on the necessity of adequate personnel for training the organized national reserves. The number of enlisted men necessary for this duty, the chief of staff places at 14,000.

The air service requires a minimum of 11,500 men, the chief of staff said.

Pointing out that the world war found the United States particularly unprepared in special and technical units, the chief of staff insisted 10,000 men is the smallest allotment for this service consistent with public safety.

The chief of staff points out that 140,000 troops are necessary for foreign garrisons, special services and the overhead of the army. In addition to these special troops, he asserts, there must be at least sixty thousand combat troops held in readiness in the United States for any emergency which may arise.

"We must have at least four combat divisions in the United States," his report says. "From the standpoint of geography, these divisions should be located: One on the Pacific coast, one on the Mexican border, one in the middle west and one on the Atlantic coast.

Bitter-Enders Given New Treaty Weapon

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—A new weapon was placed in the hands of the bitter-enders who oppose the new four-powered Pacific treaty when it became known officially that the United States interprets the clause "insular possessions and dominions" contained in article one, as applying to the islands of Japan proper.

The effect of this, it was pointed out, is that if Japan should be threatened by the "aggressive action of any other powers" (article two), Great Britain, the United States and France are committed to intervene to determine how the exigencies of the situation shall be met.

COMEDY FEATURE OF VAUDEVILLE BILL, GLENDALE TODAY

Solid Laughing Hit Heads Program; Alice Calhoun Is Star of Picture

An abundance of entertainment comes with the vaudeville performance at Glendale Theatre today. Barnes and Lorraine, in their original comedy vehicle "Sidetracked," should prove a solid laughing hit and be a bright spot on any bill. Their material is up to the minute, and is handled by clever artists who have no trouble in gathering laughs and applause.

William Morrow, in poetry, mimicry and song, has produced a single act that combines his own exclusive songs, intermingled with a quick dramatic finish.

Eska Wilson, with his ventriloquial novelty, and O'Neil and O'Neil, in a melange of singing and dancing should add materially to the quality of the bill. White, Schefe and Haus, in a routine of double trapeze and teeth equilibrism round out the variety on the program.

Alice Calhoun Featured

To be in love with one man and married to another is an unfortunate occurrence, especially when one is obliged to keep the knowledge of her marriage a secret.

This is the situation in which the clever Alice Calhoun finds herself in "The Charming Deceiver," the feature photoplay on tonight's program. A complete change of bill is announced for Saturday.

There is a touch of realism about "The Charming Deceiver" which words fail to describe. A mere rehearsal of the plot does not give an adequate description of the realism shown in the visualization. The synopsis makes the picture somewhat commonplace; the visualization makes it remarkably unusual. This is partly due to the wonderful personality of Alice Calhoun, the able support of her company and the care and skill used in directing.

NATIONAL REPORT GIVES PAST FACTS ON INDUSTRIES

Figures Gathered Will Not Apply Today, for Glendale Is Growing Too Fast

The Department of Commerce, through the U. S. Press association, which represents The Glendale Evening News in Washington, D. C., has furnished this paper with a preliminary statement of the general results of the 1920 census of manufactures for Glendale.

This census, like former ones, excluded the hand trades, the building trades, and the neighborhood industries, and took account only of establishments conducted under the so-called factory system.

The reports were taken for the calendar year ending December 31, 1919, or the business year of the establishments most nearly conforming to that calendar year and, therefore, cannot be considered indicative of the present industrial situation. Following is the report:

Northwest Recovering From Flood Dangers

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 16.—With frosty weather chilling the thawing snow in the foothills, and a cloudless sky, Puget Sound was on the road to recovery today from the flood menace which started Sunday. The crest of high water receded in the lower Duwamish valley late yesterday and traffic was again open to Tacoma and valley cities.

The body of Jack Andrews, buried by a landslide Sunday, which swept the Andrews house down a precipice 200 feet, was recovered. Firemen working with high pressure hose are attempting to unearth the bodies of his 5-year-old brother, Sammie, and their stepmother, Mrs. Samuel C. Andrews.

GERMAN TOYS ARRIVING

TILTONVILLE, Ohio — German-made toys are arriving in the United States in large quantities, according to a local dealer, who said he expects these toys will be an important factor in helping Germans to pay the war indemnity. He said prices of 10, 15 and 25 cents are possible for goods similar to American-made toys that sell at 25, 35 and 50 cents.

REBELLION AGAINST SOVIET OFFICIALS GROWING FAST

General Baron Wrangel May Again Lead Expedition Against Red Forces

By GEORGES POPOFF
Written for International News Service

RIGA, Dec. 16.—A sensational increase of anti-Soviet activities was reported from Moscow today.

General Baron Wrangel, who led the "white" army in South Russia, and who was crushed in battle in the Crimea, has announced he will lead another military expedition against the red army. Wrangel is believed to be in Turkey. The remnants of his army have fled.

The flames of rebellion against the Bolshevists are burning fiercely in Ukraine. Attaman Bolis, one of the chief leaders of the Ukranian forces, claims to have defeated and crushed two red regiments in battle.

Radicals Accuse Lenine

It is reported from the far east that the Republicans have defeated the Bolshevik forces in an engagement near Bogranttjmd.

A Bolshevist counsel has been held at Moscow. Vice-Counsellor Kameneff reported that the Carelans are trying to cut the Petrograd-Murmansk railway.

News of the increasing military activities against the Bolshevists followed a report that serious dissensions are threatened in the Soviet and the Russian Communist party. The radicals are charging Lenine with "swinging towards capitalism."

The Soviet has a powerful, well-equipped army and supporters of the Moscow government at Riga profess no fears over the outcome of the latest activities.

COMMENT
THAT'S ALL

To Park Building There
Kansas 'Girls' On Warpath
Rights of the Motorist
All In The Day's Work

By Gil A. Cowan

NO more will you park beside the Palace Grand—now the T. D. L. theatre on North Brand boulevard. The vacant lot adjoining the theatre which was established as an auto park for the convenience of theatre patrons by the Messrs. Jensen when Brand boulevard frontage was worth little more than residence property today.

Now the reason that motorcars will use this space no more is that Jensens are building a two story and basement building, the steam shovel having started at work this morning.

The development of the day is another community institution that is passing in the path of progress. How fast others will go as this city attains first 50,000 then 100,000 and more population.

Something new in the world in the "Amazon" army of the Kansas coal fields?

Not at all! From time immemorial when men were licked, defeated, outgeneraled, flabbergasted and hopeless the women have taken up the fight—and usually with dire results.

No matter who was to blame, Colorado has a blot on its name never to be forgotten in the minds of those who were present at the time of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company's strike.

No matter who is to blame, Kansas mines had better be abandoned and Howatt run out of the country by federal agents for inciting revolution rather than have the slaughter of innocents which impends.

However, it may be that the "Amazons" already are outgeneraled. The militiamen proposed to turn the hose on the women's army—a fitting finish for the "battalion of death" with its rotten eggs and stones.

Six months in jail for reckless driving was one of the sentences meted out Wednesday in a Los Angeles court.

For 180 days the pedestrian public will be safe from one inconsiderate motorist, at least.

And the motoring public will not be endangered by him either.

It is too bad that people are permitted to have cars and then fail to respect others' rights. At the same time there are people, especially parents, who refuse to acknowledge the rights of the motorist.

Children purposely exposing themselves to accident by running across the street in front of a machine, by standing in the street and trying to stop a car or by "fooling around" automobiles deserve a spanking. They must NOT do it, but they will if the parents don't object.

Sunday evening a little girl dashed in front of a big car on East Broadway and missed death only because the driver was alert and the brakes on the machine were in perfect working order.

At the Columbus avenue school daily the children stand in the avenue and refuse to get out of the road for motorcars. This is after school has been dismissed so the teachers are in no wise responsible. But one of those youngsters is going to get killed and some poor milk truck driver, or other fellow, will be held more or less responsible.

A doctor tells the story of boys getting underneath his motorcar and unloosing all of the mechanism they could get at. Certainly remedial measures need be taken in more than one direction.

Ever try to write anything on the spur of the moment?

Then have the telephone ring six times, have two or three visitors, meet some one who is upset because things is not going smoothly, have to make a half dozen decisions, give several bits of advice to others and finally get your wits together and complete the task of writing 500 to 1000 words in the shortest possible time.

That's the little job entailed by this column. Some little job.

Final Agreement Is Reached by Big Three

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—A final and complete agreement on the naval limitation program was reached at Thursday's meeting of the conference of the big three—Hughes, Balfour and Kato—according to all indications at the close of the session. No official announcement, however, was forthcoming.

Balfour and Kato were obviously in good spirits when they left the office of Secretary of State Hughes. Any announcement, they said, would have to come from the Secretary of State.

"When are the big three going to meet again?" Balfour was asked.

"This three are not going to meet again," he replied.

TOMMY MILTON SPEED KING

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—Milton rules the automobile speed realm for 1921 as the result of his taking second place in the 250 mile international sweepstakes race at San Carlos. Jimmy Murphy, in a Duesenberg eight, won the event, negotiating the 250 miles in 2 hours, 15 minutes, 11 and 1-5 seconds, which was an average of 111.08 miles an hour, a new world's record for the 250 mile course. The only thrill for the 50,000 spectators who witnessed the race was the tearing down of forty-five feet of fence by Elliott in a Leach Special. Elliott broke a crank shaft while traveling in fifth place at 100 miles an hour. The machine was wrecked, but neither he nor his mechanic were injured other than cuts and bruises.

Bill of Rights for Farmers Submitted

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—The American Farmers' "bill of rights" has been submitted to Congress today as the outgrowth of the weeks of investigation into "what is wrong with agriculture?" conducted by a joint committee of the House and Senate.

Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, presented the preliminary report to the Senate. Chief among its recommendations is one that co-operative marketing and combinations of farmers for marketing their produce be "affirmatively legalized" by the government.

GREAT WEALTH YET UNTAPPED. SAYS U. S. OFFICIAL

Plenty of Riches Still to Be Held, States Secretary Fall of the Interior

By U. S. Press Association.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—An untapped wealth estimated at a minimum of $150,000,000,000, is contained in the more than 400,000,000 acres of land still held in the public domain, Secretary Fall of the Interior Department says in his first annual report. Coal and oil form the bulk of this wealth. the total coal deposits being estimated at 110,000,000,000 tons. and the oil deposits at 1.325.000,000 barrels, with an additional $50,000,000,000 barrels of shale oil.

From the development of these resources the Federal government, Secretary Fall says, would realize by way of royalties, etc., a total of $12,387,500,000.

Alaska's Wealth

"Alaska's resources have not been developed for various reasons," says Secretary Fall of the Interior Department, in his report. Among these reasons he cites the lack of transportation. Mr. Fall says "these resources are administered through some 38 bureaus and various departments of this government. In my opinion authority to administer the laws relative to Alaska's natural resources must be vested in some one department of this government that the activities charged with the administration may be properly co-ordinated."

International Trade

A comparison of 1921 with 1920 shows that the trade of the most important countries has been cut in half; in a few cases the decrease is even greater, says a statement of the Department of Commerce. It should be noted, however, that the actual shrinking of the volume of trade has not been as great as the reduced values seem to indicate. A large proportion of the apparent loss is due to the general fall of prices. Wheat. corn, rye, barley, oats. linseed, coffee, tea, cocoa, sugar, cotton, wool, hides. and many other staples of the international trade in 1921 have been sold at prices far below the boom prices of the first nine months of 1920. Some of the consuming countries have thus been enabled to import larger quantities of these staples in 1921 at a lower cost, but on the whole the decline in prices has failed to stimulate trade in a corresponding proportion.

The report comments that the principal hindrances to a healthy growth of international trade seem to be the impoverishment of Europe and the practice of thrift. enforced or voluntary, which, from the merchant's point of view, is equivalent to a purchaser's strike.

Agricultural Implements

The Department of Commerce announces that agricultural implements manufactured in the United States during 1920 were valued at $343,382,000. The amount exported was valued at $46,278,000—13 per cent of the total amount manufactured. The value of tractors manufactured in the same year was $165,809,000; the value of exports $31,093,000—19 per cent of the total. This represents a grand total of implements and tractors manufactured in 1920 amounting to $536,945,000; of exports amounting to $77,371,000, or 14.5 per cent of the total manufactured.

International Deep Waterways

Representatives A. P. Nelson, of Wisconsin, and W. W. Chalmers, of New York, replying in the House to Governor Miller, of New York, and other opponents of the St. Lawrence waterway connecting the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean, declared that while America's inland sea is bottled up, the narrow and provincial argument is advanced that the New York barge canal can take care of the enormous export business. It would be like feeding a giant through a straw, said Mr. Nelson. Mr. Chalmers declared that completion of the waterway would turn the Great Lakes into a Baltic and bring the Atlantic Ocean within 100 miles of the center of population of the United States. New York representatives who oppose the plan contend that it would make Montreal the export port for American shipping, with foreign control, and that, since New York state built its own barge canal, the sections of the country benefiting from the Great Lakes project should build theirs without Federal aid. Advocates of the St. Lawrence route insist that the benefits are nation-wide and that the new channel is not intended to outrival the barge canal.

Eighteen states belonging to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association contend that no one state or seaport should, by mere local selfish interests, stand in the way of the entire nation's development, Nelson declared. The St. Lawrence channel is not competing with the New York barge canal, but it is a co-operative route between the East and the West.

$350,374,358 in Liabilities

Unpaid claims and debts of the Shipping Board on September 30 aggregated $350,374,358, while it had available in money on hand and appropriations $130,830,000 according to figures sent to the Senate in response to a resolution by Senator Poindexter, of Washington. In addition to the liabilities mentioned. the board reported that it had debts, unrecorded at the headquarters here, but entered at subsidiary offices, of $25,904,717. Offsetting this figure, however, the board, its statement said, had credits of the same sort totaling within a few thousand dollars of the amount.

Actual claims pending against the board on the above date totaled $292,155,842, which the statement divided as follows: Admiralty, $59,934,100; contracts, $134,206,558; requisitioned ships, $37,093,172; Court of Claims, $62,739,315, and miscellaneous, $2,680,124.

Disposition of the board's assets were given as: Moneys on hand, $33,472,242; appropriations, $45,358,009, and an additional appropriation not exceeding $55,000,000 to be used from payments of ships sold.

Consumers' Coal Supply Low

Approximately forty-three days' supply of coal was in the hands of consumers throughout the country on November 1, according to the results of a joint inventory of coal stocks as of that date made public by the Commerce Department and the geological survey. A total of 47,400,000 tons of coal was found in the hands of consumers, which, it was said, compares with as high as 63,000,000 tons in the past. The estimated average number of days' supply in various consumers' hands was given as follows: Railways, 29 days; steel plants and coke industries, 42 days; other industries, 67 days; gas works, 87 days; electric public utility, 54 days, and coal dealers, 47 days. It was emphasized that these supplies were averages and that many individual industries and dealers were far below the average. The next inventory will be as of January 1, 1922.

The art of making spirits was well known many centuries before the advent of the Christian era.

PREMIER OF JAPAN IN HOPE TREATY WILL SUCCEED

Complete Understanding for America and Japanese, Is Wish of Official

By DUKE N. PARRY
Written for International News Service
Copyright, 1921, International News Service.

TOKIO, Dec. 16.—The hope that the four-power agreement in the Pacific will result in a complete understanding between the United States and Japan was expressed by Viscount Takahashi, premier of Japan, in an exclusive statement to the International News Service. This was the premier's first public statement of views concerning the new treaty. Premier Takahashi's statement in full follows:

"On behalf of Japan, I express the hope that the present negotiations, the four-power entente, and all naval ratio problems, will result in a complete understanding between the two countries—America and Japan—and that they will give entire satisfaction to all concerned."

Count Uchida, foreign misister, likewise expressed satisfaction over the new entente in the Pacific.

For Friendly Relations

In an exclusive interview with the International News Service, Count Uchida said:

"I am pleased over the news of the four-power entente. I am glad to know that America and Japan, whose relations were misunderstood in some quarters in the past, today appear in near and most friendly relations."

The cabinet met to discuss the four-power treaty and the Yap agreement.

Most of the newspapers, in their initial comment, viewed the treaty in an unfriendly way. An exception was Chuo Shimbun, which said:

"While the people feel that the agreement does not secure China and Siberia, this is not necessarily due to the change of all-world conditions. Britain did not want the old alliance with Japan continued. But this new agreement means friendly relations among four powers. That is enough."

Leads Attack On

The press attack on the treaty was led by Yomiuri Shimbun:

"The treaty does not contain anything to secure the Far East. China should have been included if the whole Far East question was to be handled successfully."

Opposition leaders expressed disappointment that the "treaty is not sufficient to take the place of the old Anglo-Japanese alliance." They professed to regard it as a temporary arrangement and declared the treaty should have been broad enough to include all territory washed by the Pacific ocean.

BATTLESHIP VS. AIRPLANE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—"The battleship versus airplane" controversy which has kept officials of the army and navy in a turmoil for several months broke out in the Senate. Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, introduced a resolution calling upon the Secretary of War to furnish the Senate with a copy of the report of Brigadier-General Mitchell, chief of the army air service, relative to the sinking of former German warships off the Virginia capes.

Mitchell's report is understood to have been shelved at the war department because of its insistence upon the supremacy of the airplane over the battleship.

EFFORTS TO DISARM UNSAFE IN FACE 'RUSSIAN FIRE'

That's What German Expert on Russ Situation Says to Harding's Project

By S. D. WEYER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—"Although I highly appreciate President Harding's initiative and wish it the best possible results, I consider that the Washington conference is premature as regards the European continent," said General Hoffman of "Brest-Litovsk fame," today. General Hoffman believes it unsafe to disarm at this time.

General Hoffman is regarded as one of the foremost experts in Germany on Russia. He continued his discussion of the Washington conference and general European conditions as follows:

"Europe is in a state o feternal unrest because of the Russian Soviets' offensive through the most cleverly disguised propaganda. The Russians are rendering the other European nations ripe to be stormed by the iron-disciplined Russian hordes.

"So long as statesmen do not find a way to reconstruct war-torn countries, they are thus shaking the confidence of their own people and are making it easier for Russian propaganda.

Poison In War Wounds

"The soviet has been especially active in its effort to inject poison in England's war wounds. The Russians have concentrated against India and Ireland. Because of its extent throughout the world, the British empire offers the best chances for world wide propaganda.

"I believe that the Moscow Soviet purposely prevented Russian reconstruction and maintains chaos because that serves its purpose to undermine the other European nations through unemployment and industrial unrest.

"The purpose of Russia, in my mind, is to gain time and to secure what materials she can by trading with the enemy.

"So long as the Russian fire smoulders beneath the ashes of European chaos, I consider all attempts to disarm as premature."

The chafing dish was in use many, many centuries ago.

HEAVY EXPORTS TO JAPAN SHOWN BY U. S. REPORTS

Great Falling Off in Other Foreign Trade; Value of Exporting Decreases

By U. S. Press Association.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—In the face of a declining trade with European and South American countries, the report of the Department of Commerce covering the month of October shows that the exports to Japan have more than doubled those of the same month last year. The value of American exports to Japan during the month of October are given as more than $25,000,000, while the exports for the same month last year were slightly more than $12,000,000. The balance of trade, furthermore, has turned in favor of the United States, imports from Japan having fallen to $17,000,000 from $21,000,000 for the same month last year.

The report shows a great falling off in the foreign trade with all countries during October, as compared with October of last year. The imports during that month last year were $333,000,000 and were only $188,029,901 this year, while the exports were $751,000,000 in the month last year and $343,597,418 this year. A falling off in the exports to all of the principal countries of Europe and South America in October, as compared with October of this year, is shown in the report. The same is true for the period of ten months ended in each October, according to the Department's statement.

With respect to imports, there has also been a falling off, but it is not so marked in most instances. The imports from Egypt alone show a marked increase for the comparative month, but not for the ten-month period.

Value of Exports Drops

Merchandise exported to the various quarters of the world during October fell off in value from the totals for the same month last year, while decided drops in imports were noted by the Commerce Department in its monthly summary of foreign trade.

Exports to Europe during October totaled $196,000,000, compared with $423,000,000 in the same month last year, while imports amounted to $67,000,000, against $88,000,000. During the ten months ended with October exports to Europe were $2,056,000,000, against $3,720,000,000 for the corresponding months of 1920, while imports for the same period aggregated $622,000,000 compared with $1,078,000,000.

Exports to South America totaled $15,000,000 for October, compared with $58,000,000 in October a year ago, while imports totaled $18,000,000, compared with $47,000,000 in the ten months ended with October. Exports to Asia during October aggregated $44,000,000 against $46,000,000 for October last year.

$2,505,000 War Finance Loans

Approval of fifty-seven advances for agricultural and live stock purposes aggregating $2,505,000 has been announced by the War Finance Corporation, as follows: Nebraska, $221,000; Montana, $217,000; Colorado, $540,000; Wisconsin, $17,000; Illinois, $50,000; Kansas, $13,000; Minnesota, $100,000; North Dakota, $117,000; South Dakota, $222,000; Iowa, $691,000; South Carolina, $87,000; Texas, $131,000, and Georgia, $99,000.

American Incomes

The National Bureau of Economic Research reports that in 1913 the income of the average American was $354 for each member of the family. This rose to $629 in 1919. But it was only $358 in actual buying power, on the basis of prices of 1913.

MINISTER TO PARAGUAY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—William O'Tool of Gary, W. Va., will be named by President Harding as United States Minister to Paraguay, it was learned at the White House. O'Tool is only 28, and probably will be the youngest minister in the American diplomatic service. He is prominently identified with the mining interests of the United States Steel corporation in West Virginia.

Great indignation has been aroused by the committment to Bedford Reformatory of Margaret Ballard, the 18-year-old girl who was recently released after four and one-half months' incarceration. It has been found that no trial was given her, and that she had been committed solely because of her relatives' objection to her employment in a movie theatre. cU&U

GAS COMPANY GETS COMPLETE MAP OF CITY PREPARED

All Details Are Set Forth in Page After Page; Great Growth Is Indicated

A complete map system of the city of Glendale has been prepared by the Southern California Gas company for use in connection with its installation of service and as soon as a master copy can be prepared, the one now in use at their local office on West Broadway will be presented to the city, according to W. R. Phelon, manager.

One can hardly appreciate the comprehensiveness of Glendale without viewing the page after page of maps including streets contained in the latest plats accepted by the council. The lot and block numbers, besides the name of the tract are definitely set forth and it is the intention of Mr. Phelon to have the street numbers given also.

Improvement Problems

Glendale and its environs in the territory served by the Southern California Gas company presents some large problems in the way of improvements. Indicative of the growth of the business, it is stated that a net gain of 205 services was made in the month of November. According to H. P. Courtney, who is well versed in the law of averages for each service, no less than 700 new residents came to this vicinity within the thirty-day period.

Allowing that 500 would be a fair monthly average, by January 1, 1923, Glendale will boast more than 39,000 population.

LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BY PROF. HERMANN S. HERING, C. S. B.

A lecture entitled Christian Science, the Science of Right Living, by Prof. Hermann S. Hering, C.S.B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston; Mass., delivered in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Glendale, Cal., December 15. The lecturer was introduced by the First Reader, Arthur P. Care.

Since Christian Science, as discovered and founded by Mary Baker Eddy, is being so generally recognized as an instrument for good, it will be interesting to know what this Science teaches regarding the unrest, evil and suffering so prevalent in the world today and to hear what solution it has to offer for them. We are deeply concerned to discover the cause of this untoward condition and to learn, if possible, of an adequate remedy for it, as well as to find what part each one of us plays in the situation, to what degree we are responsible for it, and to what extent we can aid in alleviating and healing it.

At the outset it should be recognized that the world is an aggregation of individuals, hence world conditions are but the composite product of the lives and mentalities of its people, and of their habits of thought, their ethics, their ambitions and their resultant conduct.

Thus the character of human living is an essential factor in the world's condition and it follows that this can be improved only as the lives of its people are improved. It is this phase of the question to which we shall give especial attention by analyzing the Science of right living, together with the Principle and law involved, in order to see how these may be demonstrated in human activities.

Recipe in the Bible

It is evident that all which really is has Principle, basis, cause, law, and that right living involves obedience to Principle, government by motives based upon truth, justice, equity. Since God made all that was made and pronounced it good, it follows that obedience to God, Principle, means obedience to good. It is also evident that in order to do right we must know what right is, and this cannot be known without knowing what God or good is, therefore, in order to obey Principle, one must know God even as Jesus and his disciples knew Him.

> St. Paul writes: "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."—(Rom. 8:2).

The Bible contains many clear and definite statements of the healing law of the gospel in its relation to every form of evil thinking and living.

Have you ever thought what this world would be with all its sin, sorrow, suffering and sickness removed? And have you ever realized that an understanding of the teachings of Christ Jesus, with strict adherence thereto, would bring about this heavenly condition? This should be evident to all Bible students.

When looking, therefore, for a solution of the world's problems, need one look further than to an understanding of the teachings of the Master? Did he not set a standard of right living upon a divine basis which he declared he made it possible for all to follow? Did he not heal all manner of evil and disease through divine power and did he not teach his followers to do the same thing? Is it not evident then that Christian living involves not merely right ethical or moral conditions, but right physical and mental conditions as well; health, harmony and wholesomeness in every direction?

Christian Living Includes Healing

We thus see that Christian healing is undoubtedly an essential element in Christian living. From the inception of Christianity, however, only a few have accepted fully our Master's teachings, caught their spirit and manifested this Christ spirit in healing works, notably the early Christians who, during the first three centuries of the Christian era, did such marvelous healing, and led such self-sacrificing and consecrated lives, until the time when Christianity was engulfed in formalism and its vital spirit was quenched. One reason why so many do not believe in Christian healing is because it is difficult for the human mind to see and admit that a mere mental effort, such as prayer, faith, and right thinking, can bring about a physical change. Yet this is what our Master's teachings and his practice involve.

It is evident that Christ Jesus considered this healing work an indispensable factor of his ministry; indeed he made it a test of Christian discipleship, for he said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also;" a statement which clearly means that he who is a Christian will be able to heal spiritually.

Moreover, he made no distinction between the healing of sin and of disease. He said, for example, to the impotent man whom he had healed of a serious physical condition, "Go and sin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you," unmistakably implying that the disease had been due to sin, and definitely stating that continued indulgence in sin will result in a worse form of disease.

Healing Understood Spiritually

Since, therefore, Christian healing is such an integral element of our Master's Christianity and is thus essential to the demonstration of Christian living, it is important to understand it. The Bible says that spiritual things must be spiritually discerned, and since Christian healing is accomplished spiritually, no other means being used, it is evident that it can be explained, understood and demonstrated only spiritually, that is, from a spiritual basis. Physical science and medical science cannot possibly explain the healing work done by Christ Jesus and by his immediate followers, nor by Christian Scientists today, for these opposite methods have nothing whatever in common.

Since all have been educated to look at things materially, and since it is impossible to understand Jesus' teachings and works from that basis, it is evident that a new point of view must be obtained, one, that is to say, apart from the physical, and therefore in the realm of the Christianly metaphysical or spiritually mental, for it is evident that his healing work was all accomplished mentally.

In gaining this new viewpoint it may be necessary to engage in a line of thought to which some have not been accustomed. Therefore I must ask such to be patient and indulgent while this new viewpoint is considered.

It is not, of course, the purpose here to attempt to prove that healing was accomplished by Jesus and by his disciples or that it is accomplished to-day by Christian Scientists, since this fact is already well established. The endeavor will be to explain away some of the difficulties involved in accepting it and to show the possibility of healing the world's miseries through spiritual means.

Nature of Human Existence

First it is necessary to make a brief analysis of the nature of so-called human existence in order to gain some understanding of what constitutes human consciousness that we may learn what it is that mortals seem to be, what the world appears to be in which they seem to live, and what the conditions which are to be overcome, for then, and then only, can be seen what is involved in Christian healing and in the demonstration of the Science of right living.

A moment's thought will show us that mortals are conscious of existence mentally and only so, for everything that enters into their life, all activities and experiences, enters it mentally through some action of thought, for do they not think what they see, hear, feel, smell or taste? We are conscious only of mental impressions presenting themselves as mental concepts which are accepted as existence. Thus it is seen that human existence is wholly mental.

From this it follows that the condition and state of human existence is largely due to that of human consciousness. This conclusion, moreover, cannot be avoided when we consider existing differences in personal characteristics, in educational bias, environment, association and experience, and see what a widely varying sense of existence these differences produce in different individuals. For example, two persons may live in a home,—one may think it very beautiful and comfortable, and wish to remain in it, while the other is unhappy and wishes to move away from it,—the same home. In every-day experience we learn that no two members of any group of persons, if asked their impression of any incident appealing to the material senses, will give similar accounts. Each one can give only his own mental impression.

Human Existence Relative

Indeed, it is a demonstrable fact that no two persons see the same object exactly alike. The lenses of people's eyes are all said to be slightly different, which results in different images being thrown upon their retinas; and more especially the quality of the perceptive faculties is very different. Each person always sees only his own concept. In other words, we experience mental impressions, the character of which is largely due to that of our own mentality, and these impressions are accepted as human existence. Therefore, what is called the material universe is for each one of us but a material concept of the universe, an individual impression of it, the way it appears through the five physical senses. And as it is never exactly the same with any two persons, obviously this material sense of the universe is not absolute but is relative, variable, impressionistic.

Prof. Einstein, in his theory of relativity, has proved through mathematical computation and physical experimentation, that material existence is relative, that the mass, or quantity of substance, of an object, for example, is dependent upon its velocity, that the universe is conceptual, and that we see all things from our own point of view, our own "frame of reference", as it is called mathematically. He claims, moreover, to have proved that time and space are purely relative, which means that they have no absolute existence. It is true that many agreements have been made in education, —a yardstick, for example, is an accepted measure of length.—but the yard-stick seems very different to a child from what it does to an adult.

Physical Sense Testimony False

Since the five physical senses play so important a part in the formation of so-called physical sense of existence, it is necessary to analyze them in order to determine whether they can be depended upon. In the case of sight, for example, if one looks at a straight railway track, the rails seem to converge, but this appearance is not true, for they are parallel. A large house seen in the distance appears to be a small house, but this again is not true. Such examples prove that the sense of sight testifies falsely and requires corrections and explanations before intelligent concepts can be formed.

So also in the case of hearing, echoes and sounds in the distance are deceptive until they are explained and corrected. In the same way it is well known how often we have been and how easily we can be deceived through the other senses, the senses of touch, taste and smell.

Now if a business man has five employees whose daily reports he cannot accept without making many corrections and allowances, will he have implicit confidence in these employees in every other respect? Certainly not, for we know how hard it is ever to believe a person again who has misled us once. Then is it sensible or logical to have such implicit confidence in the testimony of the five physical senses when it is known that they testify falsely all the time? Should we not rather be eager for further corrections that we may not be deceived by them at all?

It is very important to see that the five physical senses cannot perceive truth; consequently, anything that is true. For example, suppose two persons to be looking at a mathematical computation, one understands mathematics and the other does not. Would they both see the truth involved by simply looking at the physical figures with their physical eyes? Certainly not, for mathematical truth can be seen only through mathematical understanding, and those who do not have this understanding cannot see this truth, no matter how long they may look at the figures.

For the same reason, the five physical senses cannot perceive absolute Truth. They cannot, in other words, see God, Spirit, Mind, Soul, Love,—they certainly cannot see Principle, for Truth can be seen only through the understanding, spiritual understanding,—a faculty entirely apart from physical sense. If, therefore, the five physical senses cannot see Truth, it follows conclusively that what they do see is not true.

Mental Nature of Existence

Those who have studied physics and chemistry, have been taught that any material object may through mechanical, chemical and electrical processes, be reduced to a mere form of energy,—to infinitesimal units of electrical force vibrating with great velocity. Since, then, a material object is an aggregation of units of force, nothing else having entered into its composition, it must be simply force. Mrs. Eddy writes in her text-book: Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, page (484), "physical force and mortal mind are one." Therefore, any material object is wholly mental.

Those who have studied psychology and philosophy know that the only evidence of the existence of a material object is a mental concept. Thus so-called material consciousness experiences various mental impressions appearing as objectified mental concepts and these constitute what is known as material existence, there being no other evidence of this existence whatsoever. Thus we see that not only is such existence wholly mental, but also that everything that enters into it is mental and even that matter itself is but a mental phenomenon.

It is very important to recognize this mental nature of mortal existence, for otherwise it is impossible to understand the teachings of Christ Jesus, and especially his healing work.

In the initial step thus far taken no reference has been made to the teachings of Christian Science, except the one brief quotation which has been introduced from Mrs. Eddy's text-book. I have simply called your attention to, or reviewed, if you please, what is common knowledge, that is, what everybody knows or can know by going to school, by reading, and by thinking along the lines pointed out. It is true that I have correlated this knowledge in perhaps an unusual way, but this has been done for the purpose of showing the mental nature of material existence, which any one can convince himself of through simple human reasoning based upon common knowledge.

Appreciating the difficulty involved and realizing that Christian healing is an essential element of our Master's Christianity and is vital to the demonstration of Christian living, an endeavor should be made to understand this particular point a little more clearly. Therefore, a few of what seem to be points of greatest difficulty will now be considered, and some of the teachings of Christian Science introduced.

Matter Not Substance

First, the universal belief in matter as substance, which hinders the apprehension of the unsubstantial nature of matter as taught in Christian Science, and which makes it so difficult for many to accept Christian Science. This difficulty causes many to say that Christian Science may be very helpful for mental or nervous diseases, but cannot possibly be successful in organic or structural diseases, a position in which, of course, they are wrong.

Now what is substance supposed to be? It is that of which things are made, that which gives them their being, their body, their structure, and so on, and that which prevents them from being destroyed. The dictionaries define substance as that which is substantial, that which has real, lasting, perpetual existence; that which is actual and not illusory, from which it follows that real substance must be that which is indestructible and permanent. Does matter come up to these specifications and requirements? Is it not a fact that all material things can be destroyed, and, if let alone, will they not naturally decay and disintegrate? Does this not prove that matter is not substance, since it has no lasting, perpetual existence?

It was shown a moment ago that an apparently substantial material object could be reduced to a form of energy; though even this, it should be remembered, is mainly a theory. Then is such a material object actual or illusory? If the physical scientists themselves do not know what a physical object is, and they certainly do not, may we not doubt their theories regarding it? Then, if matter is not substance, what is? Is there anything that is indestructible and eternal? Yes, Truth. Take, by way of analogy, the mathematical idea that two and two make four. This is mathematically a true idea with real, lasting existence. Therefore, this idea is substantative, for the fact that two and two make four cannot be destroyed. It is also evident that truth is that which makes things what they are, gives them their being and prevents their being destroyed. Thus it is seen that truth is substance, and therefore, wholly mental, and that eternal, indestructible, real substance, is divine Truth, the divine actuality, the infinite Being. Mrs. Eddy teaches that Truth is Spirit and that this divine Spirit, which is infinite, indestructible, eternal, is real substance, the substance of which God made all "that was made," is, in fact, that which constitutes all real being. It is this infinite, indestructible, divine substance of Spirit, Truth, which is counterfeited by the finite concept called matter, but which exists entirely apart from matter.

Appearance Not Real

Another point of difficulty lies in the finite, dimensional appearance of things which certainly makes them seem very real. Let us look at this also from a mathematical angle. Take, for example, the mathematical idea or quantity, seven. There is but one seven, and all may have that one by knowing it. This seven can be used just as much as may be needed or desired and it will not wear out, neither can any one be deprived of the use of it. It is everywhere and one cannot go anywhere in the universe and not find seven, showing that it is a universal and omnipresent idea; it is wholly mental; it has its own individuality and identity, because it cannot be confused with anything else; it is indestructible as idea; no element of time or space is involved in it for it does not take any time for seven times one to make seven, and we can remain in one place and know all there is in mathematics, a fact which illustrates the great verity that all there is of truth is present everywhere, this being a fundamental characteristic of infinity, in which there is neither space nor time, since the finite is no part of the infinite.

This mental idea, seven, is represented to finite sense by means of a finite line, which is called a figure seven and which is learned as a seven. Obviously this is not a seven at all, but a representation, a counterfeit, an imitation seven,—a mere symbol,—imperfect and unstable, which gives no correct concept of the quantitative mathematical value everywhere present. Furthermore, whatever may be done to the numeral, will not affect the idea, for even if the numeral is destroyed, it can be reproduced. Now there is very nearly the same relationship between the finite, material concepts of the physical universe and the infinite, spiritual ideas of God's universe as there is between the figure seven and the idea seven.

Mrs. Eddy has been much maligned because she has called attention to this great fact. Yet we know that if we look at a man through a piece of bent glass we shall see a deformed man, and if we do not know any better, we shall think he is a deformed man; whereas, if we get a look at the man apart from the glass we shall see that he is a normal man. That is precisely what Mrs. Eddy has done for us. She has shown us God as He is, also the real man and the real universe, so that we can understand that the finite, distorted concepts obtained through the five physical senses are not real.

Attention must here be called to the fact that mathematics, the human concept of the science of numbers, is not spiritual. It is here used simply as a stepping stone from the concrete to the abstract, to make it easier for some to reach the metaphysical.

Matter Not Life

Still another point of difficulty is the belief, or claim, which merely means the demand made upon us for belief, that there is life in matter and that life depends upon matter. Let us examine the question for a few moments. It is a fact that one of the fundamental characteristics of real life is continuity of existence. In the light of our analysis, can this be predicated of matter? Does it not appear that all material things begin, live for a span, die, decay, disintegrate? Is not this indeed the recognized routine of material living? But is this really living at all? Obviously it is not.

If matter had life, would it not sustain itself? Then since all that is material dies, decays, disintegrates, does this not prove that matter has no life? If matter cannot sustain itself, how can it sustain us? When we eat matter food, do we eat life? Do we not eat what is dead? Then can we get life from its opposite, death? Can we get light from its opposite, darkness? Is it sensible then, for it certainly is not logical, for us to depend upon matter for life when it has no life to give us? Are we not leaning upon a broken reed when we do so? The chemical action which results from the eating of material food, and which produces a certain electrical activity called physical life, is really not life at all, since it has no continuity of existence. Then if matter is not life, what is?

God Is Life

The Bible declares, and frequently implies, that God is our life. In the Bible it is also stated that "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God," (Matt. 4:4), and Jesus said that he came "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly," (John 10:10). Now what is that life? Since God is, He is Truth and continues to be. What God creates is, is true and continues to be. Therefore, truth is continuity of being, and it follows that Truth is Life, and Life is Truth. Consequently real Life is divine Truth, the great I AM, immortal, infinite, conscious being, God.

The Bible teaches further that God is the Creator; therefore He is Principle, for Principle is basis, foundation, cause, origin. Principle is that which is, that which manifests itself as idea, the basis of all law and right action. Therefore Principle is absolute, self-existent, dependent solely upon itself, independent of all else, unaffected by any modifying conditions or influences. Since God is Life, Life is Principle, and is absolute, depending solely upon itself, upon its own immortal being, independent of all else and unaffected by matter or by any condition, state or belief of matter.

Even as mathematical truth is not affected by anything which may be done to the figures, so the real life of man cannot be disturbed by what may be done to its material appearing or symbol. Life is therefore neither in matter, nor of matter. It is God's very being and nothing else.

The Bible declares through St. John that "God is Love," therefore real Life is divine Love, and thus we see that there is but one infinite, eternal, divine Life which is indestructible Truth, absolute Principle, immortal Love.

Real Life Bases Right Living

Now which would we rather have if we were given the choice? The unsatisfactory, uncertain, mortal belief of life, or the perfect, divine, immortal Life? We really are given that choice, and we should never lose sight of this fact, for whether we believe it or not, God made man in His image and likeness, therefore man reflects the divine Life, and we have only to awaken to this truth to experience the blessings it involves.

How then can we do this? Once more reasoning by analogy from mathematics, we know that when we think rightly of the multiplication table, that is to say, when we become conscious of its truth, then we know it, we reflect it and it is ours by reflection; we have it because we know it. Similarly, when we think rightly of God, then we become conscious of divine truth, then we know divine Life, we reflect it, it is ours by reflection; we have it because we know it. What said Jesus.—"This is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." Therefore, according to Jesus, knowing God is real living, and since Mrs. Eddy has made it possible for all to know God aright and to know rightly His Son, Christ Jesus, we can begin here and now to have in us the spirit of Life which was in Christ Jesus, as St. Paul declares, a state of consciousness which is indeed needed so badly today.

What a great change would take place if all were to begin to reflect that divine Life and to live in obedience to Principle, instead of believing that there is life in matter and depending upon it! Would it not make a great change in the whole world if all would just begin to have that Life and to live it? Would it not eventually solve all the world's problems?

The Science of right living is, therefore, based fundamentally upon the knowing of what real Life is and on the living of that Life. There is no other way of demonstrating Christian living. Mrs. Eddy has made it possible for all to begin to do this and Christian Scientists testify gratefully to the fact that they have begun to know that Life and have already experienced great blessings therefrom, and they are rejoicing at its infinite possibilities.

The knowing of what real Life is has a very marked healing effect to which attention should here be called. Suppose, for example, a man were on a sick bed, having been given up by many physicians, pronounced incurable, and with no further material remedies available, hopeless, helpless, despairing, gazing perhaps into the dark, dismal cavern of an uncertain beyond. Suppose now that some one were to bring to that man a glimpse of his real life, telling him of this one infinite, eternal, divine Life which is Truth, Principle, Spirit, Love, the Life which is the life of man and which matter cannot possibly take away from him. Might not that man begin to listen, and as he listens would he not turn away from belief in material dying to belief in spiritual living? Would not his eyes brighten as a consequence, the color return to his cheeks, activity be resumed and the man be healed? Thousands have been healed in just that way, many of them while reading Mrs. Eddy's text-book, wherein she makes this point so very plain.

Healing A Mental Process

It was shown a moment ago that human existence is wholly mental and that the conditions of this existence depend largely upon the condition of consciousness. Does it not follow then that with a change of consciousness will come a change in the condition of existence? The body is just as mental as the rest of human existence, and fear, anger, and other strong emotions produce very decided and apparent effects upon it. A mortal's selfhood, his consciousness of being, is obviously mental. Therefore, his body, which is the embodiment and externalization of his mentality, is mental.

Discordant conditions of the body are therefore due to discordant conditions of human sense, and it can be readily seen that, if the light of the Christ truth is brought to bear upon the dark, despairing consciousness of a sick, sinning, dying mortal, it will illumine it, brighten it with the divine light and tint it with the divine hues—a spiritual change which will be manifested as harmony of body as well as of mind.

Having thus come to see that so-called human existence and all that it includes is really humanly mental, one can begin to grasp the logic of the conclusion that all true healing of both evil and disease must be a mental process.

According to the Scriptural accounts, the healing wrought by the Master and his disciples, was accomplished through mental or spiritual means alone, that is through some action of right thought. Christian Science healing is brought about in the same way. In both, the healing Principle and law are recognized as mental, and we will, therefore, consider briefly the nature of divine Mind and of true Mind action.

Christian Science teaches that Mind is much more than mere human thought or limited consciousness since it includes the cause and manifestation of all true existence. Real Mind, infinite consciousness, is the divine Being, which expresses true ideas and constitutes all reality; the intelligence and creative Principle and substance of the universe; the omnipresent good; the basis of all manifestation and right thought, the absolute Truth. Real thinking is therefore the activity of real Mind.

Discrimination Necessary

Since the human sense of mind is finite and is externalized as material discord, it is manifesly evil, and it is necessary to make a clear distinction between the Mind which is Truth and wholly good, and the consciousness which claims to embrace both truth and error, good and evil, between that which is actually real and that which only seems to be so. To become conscious of a sense appearance, furnishes no evidence of the reality of the appearance, as is illustrated by the vision of a mirage.

Truth is fundamentally infinite in quality, in quantity, in presence and in power. Therefore, all that is real and true is indestructible, everywhere, and eternally perfect. Human sense concepts resulting from matter and mortal belief involve limitation, uncertainty, discord, and death. This illustrates the difference between the actual and the seeming.

Again, the infinite is not an aggregation of the finite, it is not composed of finite quantities. Infinity can never be reached by adding together dimensional particles. The result obtained by such a process is always finite. Neither can the infinite be divided into finite particles, or be expressed in finite quantities, for the infinite is the direct opposite of the finite and since reality is infinite, the finite must be unreal.

It is possible then to distinguish between real Mind, which is infinite, immortal, spiritual, and which expresses itself in perfect, indestructible, harmonious ideas, and the so-called mortal mind which includes the belief in matter, evil, limitation, disease and death. This latter therefore is not real Mind, but is a false concept of mind, and hence its suppositional activity is not real thinking.

Real and Unreal Creation

The first chapter of Genesis gives an account of the creation in which God made all that was made and pronounced it "very good." The second chapter gives an entirely different account of creation based upon finite dust, a creation which is the result, as is stated therein, of the rising of a mist, and which is the exact opposite in every particular of the creation presented in the first record. As it is evident that both of these accounts cannot be true, and since the first describes the complete, perfect, divine creation, it follows that the second must be false because if the original creation was complete there could be no place for a second one.

The Bible relates that Adam fell into a deep sleep, but it does not say that he ever awakened, and Mrs. Eddy calls this second record the Adam-dream, and mortals the Adam dreamers. This second record is based upon the belief that there is substance, truth and life in matter, a belief which, in our analysis, has been shown to be impossible.

St. Paul called this material sense of existence the "carnal mind" and he says that it "is enmity against God," or, in other words, God's opposite, His absence. Does not this show that infinite God never created it, since He could not create His unlikeness, His enemy, His absence? Good cannot create its opposite, or absence, evil. Therefore, the beliefs of the carnal mind have neither place, presence, nor power; any more than has the schoolboy's erroneous belief that two times two make five, which is simply a false concept, having no existence.

Mrs. Eddy calls it mortal mind because of the very evident mortal nature of everything included in it, and in order to distinguish it from the immortal, perfect, divine Mind.

It follows then that the real universe is the expression or manifestation of the infinite, divine Mind and partakes of the spiritual nature and quality of this Mind. The real, divinely created man, the image and likeness of God as he is defined in the first chapter of Genesis, is the expression of Mind, Spirit, Life, and Love, whom God pronounced good and to whom He gave dominion over the earth. Mortal man, defined in the second chapter of Genesis as created out of the dust of the ground, is but a human corporeal concept of the mortal or carnal so-called mind.

Revelation Scientific

Mrs. Eddy did not reach her conclusion regarding the unreality of matter and the false nature of material existence, through human reasoning, as we attempted to do in the beginning of our analysis. This knowledge came to her through revelation. She saw that because there is one infinity of Spirit there is no place for its counterfeit, matter, even though a false sense may attempt to claim otherwise. Since there is one infinity of good, there is no place for its reversal, evil. Because there is one infinite, divine Mind,—one infinite, divine Life,—there can be no opposite.

This divine actuality is the scientific, spiritual basis on which all Christian Science healing is demonstrated, and upon which Mrs. Eddy established her Church and her Cause. The Scriptures, spiritually understood, reveal this truth, but Mrs. Eddy first stated it in scientific and metaphysical terms which, when understood, make it possible for anyone to begin to demonstrate it.

Consequently a very sharp line must be drawn between what God made and what He did not make, between the infinite, divine actuality and the finite, human seeming; in other words, between the real and the unreal. Unless this differentiation is clearly made, thought is not spiritual, for Spirit is Truth, and we cannot think spiritually unless we know Truth.

Healing a Corrective Process

Thus it is seen that Christian Science healing is fundamentally a corrective process wherein the falsity of discordant material conditions becomes evident from the basis of absolute Truth. It involves knowing divine Truth, recognizing human error and applying Truth to the error. It is evident that if divine Truth comes into consciousness, a change will be brought about, right concepts will be established in the place of wrong concepts, and harmony will be externalized. Knowing that sin is not real and that God's man has no sinful appetites and is not the slave of passion nor the victim of vice, but that man is the idea of God, reflecting divine Love and governed by divine Principle,—this heals the sinner.

It is helpful to know that error has no location, a fact which may be illustrated by recognizing that two and two do not make five anywhere. Also that we can never know error; —we can never know, for instance, that two and two make five; we can only believe that they do. We can know only Truth. If therefore we become conscious of Truth, the error naturally disappears.

It should be clearly understood that although Christian Science denies matter by revealing its unreality, it does not destroy the sense of existence. The denial of matter does not produce a blank, for matter cannot be effectually denied until the substance of Spirit begins to be apprehended.

How Truth Heals

It is often asked how and why Truth heals, that is, why healing follows the thinking of Truth, and especially how it heals others to whom it is declared and about whom it is known, since in Christian Science healing there is no transfer of mortal thought through mental suggestion or hypnotism.

Now by its very nature Truth is individual, since it has its own distinctive, complete, indivisible character which identifies it. Therefore it can express only itself, its own nature and character, namely, that which is true and truthful. Truth being infinite Principle, it is power and expresses itself with power, and since there is no power in error, error cannot resist the power of Truth. It is because of this essential quality and property of truth, by which it always expresses itself and identifies itself, manifesting its own being in truthfulness, that a mathematical truth corrects any mathematical error to which the truth is applied.

In a similar way, a metaphysical or spiritual truth applied to a human error, corrects that error because of the self-expressing property of Truth, whereby it always identifies itself when it is brought into action, and, by this essential property of self-identification, it corrects error and establishes what is true and harmonious. A Christian Science treatment, or the scientific application of divine Principle, consists fundamentally of the clear knowing of the nature of God and of the real man, and the consequent perception of the unreality of matter and evil. It involves an analysis of that which is to be healed, an intelligent discernment of the mental causes of the trouble, and a correct application of the antidoting divine Truth which corrects and removes these supposed causes. It is not, therefore, a mere repetition of words, but it is a scientific mental process, the reflection of divine Love through spiritual knowing, which demonstrates the healing.

Denial of Matter Essential

It is an obvious fact that no one can be sick, miserable, sinning or dying were it not for the belief in matter. Hence, the great need of awakening from this illusion in order to be freed from the false bondage. Mrs. Eddy requires the First Readers in all Christian Science churches and societies to read from her text-book at each Sunday service, her scientific statement of being which includes a declaration of the unreality of matter; a requirement which constitutes a very timely reminder, and one which should be kept in mind always.

In one of my later interviews with Mrs. Eddy, she emphasized strongly the need of recognizing the mesmeric nature of matter. This has moved me to include an analysis of the subject in all my lectures, and in calling your attention emphatically to this subject, I feel that I am carrying out her wishes. We need to see that this belief in matter is the veil of the flesh which hides spiritual reality, and which must be rent before spiritual truth can be rightly seen, and spiritual healing demonstrated.

Human Consciousness

It can now be seen that all aches and pains and misery are really not material at all but are merely false mental phenomena which have their seeming existence in the human consciousness, as Mrs. Eddy calls it. Hence it is in this consciousness that they must be healed through knowing the truth. Anyone can begin here and now to think what is right, true and good, and thus to neutralize the wrong. Mrs. Eddy has revealed absolute Truth and good. It is, therefore, possible at any time to detect what is not true and not good by comparing it with her divine standard. Then the truth can be applied to the error, to neutralize it and cast it out, and thereby gradually will be accomplished what St. Paul indicates when he says, "put off the old man with his deeds," which means the Adam-man, the dust-man, the man typifying the false belief that there is life, truth, intelligence and substance in matter. Then, and not until then, can be put on the "new man," the real man, the Christ man, the man created in the image and likeness of God, by knowing the truth about this man. Thus we can begin here and now, to be transformed by the renewing of our mind, as St. Paul puts it, that is, by the renewing of our human consciousness.

When a man seems to be "down and out" he is as though he were in a deep, dark hole. If we speak to him and tell him how beautiful it is above we may catch his ear but unless we appeal to him in a way that reaches his human sense he is likely to remain in a hopeless state of mind, not believing that he can ever get out. What that man needs is a ladder which will reach down to his grasp, that is, something which he can get hold of and by means of which he can climb out. This saving power is the Christ, the divine Truth coming to the human consciousness through Christian Science, with which anyone can begin to work out his salvation, his deliverance from evil.

This human consciousness according to belief includes a sense of materiality and evil as well as of spirituality and good. It includes a sense of both right and wrong, both truth and error. It conceives of matter, of discord, of death, and yet can begin to perceive Spirit, harmony, Life. It is the consciousness of the every-day man wherein he feels that he may be healed by the Christ, Truth; the consciousness wherein reformation and regeneration take place and to which Jesus appealed in his healing and teaching. Here it is that salvation is to be worked out; here that good can be brought to bear upon evil to destroy it; here that Truth can meet error and correct it. It is the consciousness which can begin to know God. Thus the Christ awakens us from the Adam dream.

Concerning this consciousness, Mrs. Eddy writes:

> ". . . the heavens and earth to one human consciousness, that consciousness which God bestows, are spiritual, while to another, the unillumined human mind, the vision is material."

TO SPEED UP TARIFF LEGISLATION, IS PRESENT PLEA

Protectionists Are Now Urging President Harding Ask Immediate Action

U. S. Press Association.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—Protectionists in Washington desire President Harding to urge Congress to speed up the long-delayed tariff legislation and its enactment into law at the earliest possible moment. They strongly support the American valuation plan as incorporated in the tariff bill passed by the House and now before the Senate Finance Committee. Other so-called "liberal protectionists" within the Republican ranks, are arguing that no harm would be done by a longer delay in view of the chaotic conditions throughout the world and the difficulty of framing a satisfactory tariff measure. Some of this group would be glad if the whole tariff question could be put over until after the congressional elections in 1922. Some of them are opposed to the American valuation plan and would like President Harding to abandon his support of it.

"Uncertainties" in Tariff

Events of the past month have served to emphasize the uncertainties surrounding the tariff legislation, according to the Washington Herald, which observes that "while the leaders in Congress have not admitted any change in their plans to press the tariff legislation as expeditiously as possible and to adhere to the American valuation plan, there are increasing evidences that many months will elapse before the measure is enacted into law, and there is a strong possibility of the rejection of the American valuation plan through a combination of the Democrats and a minority of the Republicans on the floor of the Senate."

Must Raise Four Billions

Congress is being asked to appropriate approximately $4,000,000,000 for operation o fthe government during the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1922. Interest on the war debt alone, coupled with sinking fund requirements, accounts for $1,000,000,000 of the increase. Hundreds of millions are necessary for soldier relief; the military establishments require greater sums and other hundreds of millions will go for "cleaning up" war obligations. Both executive and legislative branches look forward to greater economies in connection with the appropriations than have been possible in many years. The old hap-hazard method of submitting estimates has been replaced by the budget system, which for the first time will be in operation. Further, the legislative machinery in Congress itself has been overhauled.

Big Slump in Tax Returns

Despite a decrease of more than $800,000,000 in collections made during the past year the cost of operating the Bureau of Internal Revenue, during the same period increased $10,462,025. Collections by the Bureau for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, totaled $4,595,000,765.74 as compared with the total for the preceding year, $5,407,580,251.81. These figures show a decrease during the past year of $812,579,486.07, or 15 per cent when compared with the collections of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920.

Powder Puff Had Place at Farmers' Show Near London

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Hundreds of Londoners streamed recently into Agricultural Hall, Islington, to see the Dairy Show and experienced many of the delights of the citizen suddenly transported into the country.

The time-honored joke of the country cousin who came "oop to Lunnun to see t' sights," and mistook Buckingham Palace for Scotland Yard was reversed when townbred people inspected the machinery used in modern dairy produce and found it as intricate as a jigsaw puzzle.

Amateur butter-making contests interested the greatest number of spectators. They never seemed to tire of watching the lassies in mobcaps, fresh from dairy schools, who were given pails of cream and churns and told to make butter in certain forms in two hours. The butter was sold, with little jars of junket and cream, as fast as the judges could pass it.

Girls showed the way to make scones from separated milk and flour, and in the Gilbey Hall a man trussed fowls for demonstration at regular intervals. Cascades of milk flowed at the rate of 500 gallons an hour through the pasteurizing machines and from motor-milked dummy cows.

Rabbit furs for women, were exhibited by a woman who last year started to dress rabbit-skins for a firm and then began to make the furs into different articles for sale, until now she is doing a steadily increasing business in coats, bags, slippers, hats, rugs, stoles, poder-puffs and hatpin tops, all made from the skins.

"There are, in fact," she said, "few general utility articles that I cannot make from a rabbit's skin.

The bird section was one of the successes of the show. There were all kinds of curious domestic birds from the Polish hen, with a white crest that resembled a Pompadour headdress, to a West Indies black duck that looked green when it moved; but there was not an ugly duckling among them.

Statistics show that the majority of divorces are sought by women between the ages of twenty and twenty-five.

Lecture on Christian Science by Professor Hermann S. Hering

(Science and Health, page 573). She also writes:

". . . sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation. Now, as then, these mighty works are not supernatural, but supremely natural. They are the sign of Immanuel, or 'God with us'—a divine influence ever present in human consciousness . . ." (Science and Health, page XI.).

Think of it! A divine influence always present within, which makes it possible to be healed and saved, by having the Christ, Truth, come to consciousness and there develop spiritual understanding, through right knowing and right living.

Mary Baker Eddy

Is it any wonder that Christian Scientists love Mrs. Eddy as they do and are so grateful to her, not only for her great discovery but because she has made it possible for them to begin to demonstrate its truth, to begin to understand Jesus' teachings and to experience his promises? Her uplifted human consciousness was so closely allied to God through simple goodness, that she was enabled to perceive the divine idea,—the nature of spiritual being,—and this vision of perfect God, perfect man, perfect being, made her the discoverer of this hitherto unknown Science underlying all true existence. Her one great objective through many years was to know God, to find the infinite source of good, to understand the true nature of being, that healing might come to burden-bearing humanity. Her single-mindedness, untempted by the world, undismayed by the weakness of the flesh, undaunted by the enmity of evil, held her true to her ideal, and brought her to the longed-for-goal, the demonstrable working understanding of the Christ-method, with unmistakable signs following.

The marvel of these modern times is not the phenomenal rapidity and variety of material development, but the spiritual appearing to the transparent thought of one pure-minded woman, of the Christ, Truth, revealing the universe of infinite Mind and its ever-present reflection.

Christian Scientists recognize Mrs. Eddy as the discoverer and founder of Christian Science because of her preparedness and because they have been able to demonstrate the truth of her teachings. This latter fact is a very important point, because any one can prove its truth for himself. When a school boy proves that ten times ten is one hundred he virtually proves that a thousand times a thousand is a million, although this latter quantity may be beyond his mental grasp. So Christian Scientists in demonstrating simple fundamentals prove the truth of Mrs. Eddy's entire revelation. In what an unfortunate position then is a person who declares that the teachings of Christian Science are not true, when he himself could prove that they are true, if he only would.

Because Mrs. Eddy has revealed the wonders of infinite Truth, Christian Scientists recognize the fact that she must have understood divine Mind, God, in a transcendant degree, and hence was far more capable than any one else of declaring what should be done with her Church and her Cause. They are eager, therefore, to know what she teaches and advises in order that they may be benefited by the wisdom of her superior spiritual understanding, an understanding so far above their own.

Her Writings Her Interpreter

They are seeking the revelation as the revelator has given it knowing that their safety lies in doing this. They study Mrs. Eddy's writings very thoroughly, and more carefully than ever before, in order to make sure, by securing an interpretation of them directly from her own words, that they are really gaining a correct understanding of them, and are thereby avoiding the great danger of misinterpretation by some uninspired human thought. Mrs. Eddy needs no interpreter other than her own words.

In pursuing this study, Christian Scientists use very largely her two concordances, books which contain nearly all the words in her writings. If they wish to know what Mrs. Eddy's thought is regarding any question, or if they are seeking light upon a problem of their own, upon some disputed point, or upon some religious teaching, they look up in these concordances the words involved, read and ponder the use which Mrs. Eddy makes of these words in all her books, carefully study the meanings with which she uses them, and make accurate differentiation between the human and divine; then they invariably receive a scientific, spiritual thought which will be a satisfying one to them if they are honest, if they are really seeking the revelation.

Do we not see then, why Christian Science is truly the Science of right living? It involves the knowing of Truth which is the Principle of right living, the recognition of the deceptive character of matter and evil, the cause of wrong living, and the operation of the divine healing law, the law of divine Principle, which makes the healing of all evil tendency possible. Thus is established moral and physical health, thus is inculcated a true love for God, for His Christ, and for man, and thus is bestowed the blessing resulting from Christian living.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." (Phil. 4:8).

By thus reflecting divine Truth and Love, we have begun to heal ourselves, to help others and to benefit the whole world.

"They Don't Answer"

When the telephone operator says, "They don't answer," it is after a sincere endeavor to get your party. She cannot compel an answer.

The party called may be unwilling to leave a particular household duty—may be in another part of the home beyond closed doors—may be chatting with a neighbor—may be marketing—may be slow in answering. Strange, but true, calls are sometimes designedly unanswered.

Telephone records show that the great majority of "don't answer" reports come from residence calls. In business, where it is a matter of dollars and cents, it is always the assigned duty of some one to be within sound of the telephone bell.

"They don't answer" is the statement of a situation absolutely beyond the control of the telephone operator.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney diseases.—Advertisement.

MAKE PREPARATIONS FOR ATHLETICS IN CITY'S SCHOOLS

Number of Events Are Being Outlined for Young Folg by A. T. Blanford

Junior masculine and feminine athletes of Glendale are showing great interest in the approaching track season according to A. T. Blanford, physical director of the Glendale city school system who commented recently upon the fact that ambitious youngsters have started to train already.

Immediately after the resumption of school after the holidays the track season will be on with a whoop. As soon as possible, regularly accredited school teams will be selected. These will be outfitted in proper track togs and jerseys.

"This year each school will have its own insignia," stated Mr. Blanford. "Last term only a few of the schools displayed insignias. These will be the school initials enclosed in a circle or other device."

Seven elementary schools are scheduled for "duo-meets" with each other during the first part of January. These schools are Cerritos, Doran, Columbus, Colorado, Pacific, Central, and Broadway. Each of these schools have playground teachers who have their hands full these days answering questions in regard to athletic rules and regulations.

These Are Supervisors

The playground supervisors for the various schools are: William Samos and Mrs. Irene McReynolds, Cerritos; Miss Ethel B. Land, Doran; Miss Bessie Boss and Miss Alice McCoy, Colorado; Miss Ruth Pawley and Miss Bertha I. Berry, Columbus; Mrs. Ethel Carpenter and Miss Muriel Wilson, Pacific; Mrs. E. E. Harwood and Miss Jeanette Perkins, Central; and Miss Lucille Sparks and Miss Henrietta Holliway, Broadway.

In order to get through with these meets in time to have a week's practice before the inter-school contest, it will be necessary to have a duo meet about every school day for the first three weeks of January according to Mr. Blanford.

"The winners of first, second or third place in these meets," said he, "will be eligible for entry in the big city meet. That will be held on the Intermediate School playground the last week in January. It will be a three day affair and similar to the one held last spring. At first it was intended to have contests between the seventh and eighth grade pupils as well as between entrants from the lower classes but it has been decided to confine the meet to those below the seventh grade.

Classifications Made

Girls of the third and fourth grades will be allowed to participate in four events: A 40 yard dash; a volley ball serve for distance; a fungo hit for distance; and a four girl relay.

Boys of these classes may enter three events: First, a 40 yard dash; second, standing broad jump; and third, high jump.

Girls of the fifth and sixth grades, who are under four feet seven inches in stature, may enter four events: First, a 40 yard dash; second, a potato race; third, the volley ball serve for accuracy; and fourth, the baseball throw for distance.

Boys of this same division are eligible for six activities: First, a 50 yard dash; second, 80 yard dash; third, running broad jump; fourth, high jump; fifth, soccer kick for distance; and sixth, baseball throw for distance.

Different Events

Girls of the fifth and sixth grades, who are over four feet seven inches in stature, may compete in four events: First, a baseball throw for distance; second, 80 yard dash; third, volley ball serve for accuracy; and fourth a four girl relay.

Boys of this same classification may sign up for four activities: First, a 60 yard dash; second, an 80 yard dash; third, a running broad jump; and fourth, a high jump.

All contestants over 13 years of age belong in special classes. For the girls there is a 50 yard dash and a volley ball serve and for the boys a 75 yard dash and a broad jump.

Amazon 'General' Is Busy at Her Baking

RINGO, Kans., Dec. 16.—"General" Marie Goski, of the army of the Amazons in the Kansas mine war, rocked her twin babies, Stanley and Stephen, in a cradle, her husband, John, had built from a soap box today. "General" Goski was at home.

"I couldn't go out with the army to see what's happening today because I have baking to do," the Amazon "general" said to an International News Service correspondent.

Marie Goski, wife of one of the striking miners, was in the field Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. At the head of a "petticoat brigade," she swept down on mines around this ill-kept, unpainted mine patch dignified under the name of a village. She came to Ringo a bride from Poland, 13 years ago.

Besides the twins in the soap box, four other children played around the cabin. The mother is typical of the women of the "Amazon" army. Her beauty has faded in the hardships of the mining camp. Unhampered by the stays of her city sisters, she has grown in girth.

OVERCOATS IN CHINA

Ulster overcoats have become popular with the Chinese in Manchuria. The wealthier class of Chinese always wear long outer garments of silk, which are easily damaged by rain or snow, and the long ulster, besides affording warmth, protects the silk clothing underneath.

Churches Are Asked to Aid Unemployed

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—The Protestant churches of America were asked today to aid in solving the unemployment situation by caring for jobless workers in their own communities.

"Every church is asked to hold itself responsible for the adequate care of its own people who are in trouble," said the appeal, coming from John M. Moore, Chairman of the Unemployment Commission of the Federated Council of Churches.

The churches were also asked to co-operate with local social agencies, establish funds and prevent immigration of unemployed from their home communities. The appeal characterized the unemployment situation as of "great magnitude."

Dike Breaks and Two Towns Badly Flooded

STANWOOD, Wash., Dec. 16.—Milltown and Stanwood are flooded today to a greater depth than ever before, as a result of the Skagit dike between here and Mount Vernon breaking Wednesday night. Great sections of the Great Northern railroad were torn out by the rush of water and more than a score of families were forced to flee from their homes.

Stores were forced to close by the flooding of their floors, only a few which were built at considerable elevation being able to do business. Stanwood received the first mail it has had in several days. It was sent by boat from Seattle to Camano and sent by automobiles to the outskirts of Stanwood.

Death at Wheel of this Man's Machine

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—Stricken with heart failure while driving his automobile over the Ridge route, F. G. Higgins, aged 60, business man of Berkeley, was found dead behind the steering wheel of the car, fourteen miles north of Saugus. With his last strength Higgins had applied the brakes of his automobile and steered the car away from an embankment.

Papers found on the body showed the dead man had acted as representative of the Lockwood Manufacturing Company of South Norwalk, Conn. He was said to have been well known in business circles at San Francisco.

Conduct Search for Seven Missing Girls

VENTURA, Cal., Dec. 16.—A state wide search was being conducted today by the authorities for seven girls who have escaped from the state school for girls here. The girls, whose ages range from 15 to 20, had been held at the school on various charges of delinquency.

Two of the girls, said to be named Irene Briggs and Josephine Cole, made their escape during a recreation period. Three others, Evelyn Whipple, Marjorie Lee and Irene Streeter, according to reports, escaped through windows. Two others whose names were not revealed, also fled from the school at night.

WHY CHINESE GIRLS BIND FEET IS REVEALED AT SANITARIUM

Miss Ellen Pillquist Lectures on Customs of the Orient Where She Spent Childhood

China was the subject of a recent talk at the Glendale Sanitarium by Miss Ellen Pilquist, 410 East Broadway, who spent a large portion of her childhood in the Orient with her parents, who were missionaries.

"It is indeed a great pleasure to tell you about China," said Miss Pilquist. "I have had the privilege of living in a Chinese village and seeing and knowing the people in their homes and everyday life. I had a Chinese name, dressed like Chinese children, played with them and went in and out of their homes and temples.

"I very seldom saw any white people and was as frightened of them as the Chinese. I never considered myself as belonging to the white race, but always spoke of them as foreigners.

Delves Into World History

"According to Usher, the world was created 4004 B. C. Noah was born 2948 B. C. The flood came 600 years after, which brings us down to 2348, B. C. Babylon was founded by Nimrod, 2245, B. C.

"Now we come to the first mention of the Chinese Empire, which was founded 2207, B. C., by Fohi, whom one historian thought probably was Noah, but that is very doubtful. The Chow dynasty lasted from 1100, B. C., to 285, B. C.

The next was the Tsin dynasty. Tsin called himself emperor. It was during this dynasty that the great wall was built. It was begun 214, B. C., and completed ten years later. It is 1500 miles long.

"Buddhism was introduced into China, 65, A. D. Buddha was the son of a Hindu king. He was one of the most learned men of his time. He had read and studied all the religious writings of his day, but found no satisfaction in them. In order to study and meditate he went into the mountains and lonely places. One day as he was sitting under a Bo-tree the light and truth, which he had been seeking came to him and he said to himself: 'Now I know it all.'

Original Peace Advocate

"So, like Mohammed, he went out and preached to all who would listen. In all his travels he carried no sword, but spoke of peace and not of strife. He labored 40 years among his people and after he passed away many disciples spread his doctrine all over the Orient.

"The Mongolians conquered China, 960, A. D., but in 1368, A. D., a native dynasty was again founded to last until 1618, A. D. Then after 27 years of war, the Manchus gained the throne to hold it until 1912. Then an end came to an empire nearly 5000 years old.

"The Chinese have many stories and legends. Once upon a time, many, many years ago, there was a king who had three beautiful daughters. At this time they were making the three sacred bells of China. When the first two were taken out of their moulds, they were found perfect, but the third one was cracked. When it was taken out of the mould the second time, it cracked again.

Princess' Slipper Slipped

"The priests could not understand why until one of them received this message from the god in whose honor the bell was being made. The message said: 'The king must sacrifice one of his daughters.'

"So on the day that the bell was to be cast again the king took his three daughters to the foundry. He asked which one of his daughters would sacrifice herself. The oldest girl stepped back and said, 'No.' The second just shook her head and was very frightened. But the youngest and most beautiful stepped forward and said, 'I will.'

"So she jumped into the molten ore and gave up her life to appease this god. As she jumped in one of her dainty little slippers fell from her foot. When they picked it up they noticed how small it was and all the women of China were requested to bind their feet in order to show their honor and respect for this little princess. A Chinese bound foot is called a lily because it is named after this Princess Lily.

"My nurse used to tell me many little nursery rhymes. One of them was 'I went ten steps beyond the gate, which brought me to the ditches, and there I found some chicken skin to mend my leather breeches. If there had been no chicken skin, I could not mend my breeches then.'

"The Chinese think a good deal of their children especially the grandparents of their grandchildren.

"Even though the Chinese girls know that they cannot have a romantic wooing and marriage, as the girls of other countries have, still they dream of the prince who is coming for them. And so they sing: When the leaves are yellow from time and tide, the prince will want you for his bride.'

"A Chinese bride is always very unhappy for she has to leave her home and go into a stranger's and can see her mother but very seldom."

EXPECT IRISH FREE STATE WILL JOIN WORLD LEAGUE

Country Is Expected to Be in Organization; Has to Wait Until September

By H. WILSON HARRIS,
Diplomatic Correspondent of the London Daily News. Copyrighted 1921 by the International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.— Will the Irish free state join the League of Nations?

There is little doubt that the answer is yes, for by applying for and obtaining membership in the league, far more than by the mere signing of a paper treaty, Ireland will demonstrate to the world her independent nationhood. If anything could emphasize that it would be the opportunity she would enjoy, as a member of the league assembly, of speaking and voting against Great Britain.

While it need not be assumed that the two countries would always be at cross purposes within the league, at any rate it would hardly be suggested that Ireland's admission would further strengthen the British empire bloc. In practice that bloc is often divided enough as it is, and Ireland's advent would certainly divide it more.

However soon the Irish free state applies for membership to the league, her application cannot be considered till the assembly meets next September. She will then have to be elected by a two-thirds majority, which there will not be the smallest difficulty in obtaining after she has satisfied the assembly that her armaments are not in excess of her needs.

Here again no difficulty need be looked for, for it is already clear that Ireland has no intention of withdrawing her youth from productive work to build up an unnecessary army.

It is a bad sign for all fingers to be of the same length—sign of a thief.

SUB-COMMITTEE CHOSEN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.— A sub-committee of fifteen members has been appointed to consider the whole question of naval disarmament now pending before the conference on limitation of armament, it was announced.

The committee will consist of the heads of the five big powers, five civilian and five naval advisers. This sub-committee, it is understood, will take up the matter of ratios of auxiliary ships and will also fix the naval ratio for disarmament for France and Italy.

FIGHTS THUG; MAY DIE

VISALIA, Dec. 16. — Fighting alone with his bare hands, against a would-be robber armed with a lead pipe and a hatchet, A. W. Roach, prominent business man, beat off his assailant, but suffered injuries from which he is expected to die. His head was cut open by a blow from the hatchet and his face and head badly beaten by the lead pipe. The intruder, evidently bent on robbery, fled, leaving behind a sack containing several hundred dollars which Mr. Roach had in the house.

TAX LAW IS HELD INVALID

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—The supreme court of the United States has held invalid the West Virginia law imposing state taxes on the transportation of crude oil and natural gas. Validity of the West Virginia statute of 1919 levying the tax upon the privilege of transporting crude oil or petroleum, or natural gas, by means of pipe lines in the state was challenged in the United States supreme court by the United Fuel Gas company and the Eureka Pipe Line company. The tax is estimated to yield the state $400,000 a year and the state faces a deficit of $1,300,000 because of the contested law.

HUNGRY? READ THIS FOR HINTS ABOUT HOLIDAY MEAL

Reporter, Mere Man, Tries to Get Menu Ideas From Expert at High School

Food will be the principal ingredients of the Christmas dinner this year, according to Miss Ellen J. Hanson, impresario of artistic cookery at the Glendale Union High school, who says that a home without a Christmas dinner would be like a refrigerator without ice.

"Any of the various lamellerostral birds, which constitute the sub-family anserinae of the family anatidae, may be invited to dinner Christmas day," declared Miss Hanson with enthusiasm, "but personally, I like either duck or goose."

Now, supposing that the fowl has been legally subpoenaed to appear herewith at the festive board, it must be cooked. That is, it should be roasted if it is to be served in civilized society. It could be stewed, but then the family may have it this way, —later. After they have been decked for the sacrifice, Mr. Gander or Mrs. Ansera should be invited to lay down in a suitable pan and slowly warmed into a proper realization of their onerous responsibilities.

Meanwhile, Mr. Glendale should be out in the woodshed sharpening up the table cuirass so that he won't have to sharpen it upon the sole of his shoe while his guests are sitting around the banquet board with their mouths open waiting to be served. It might be a good idea, also, to pick off the family pitchfork the remains of the Thanksgiving turkey.

Do It This Way, Please

Simultaneously, Miss Tropico Glendale should be busy disguising the table a la Dennison & Company. It is still customary to have a white tablecloth at the beginning of the feast. Plates and goblets—pardon, tumblers—should be placed upon paper doilies edged with red. When this red begins to look blue, there is some reason to believe that a sufficiency has been enjoyed. Glass candlesticks are handy. They are much more attractive than the cracked saucer usually used to hold candles. Red candles are in keeping with the holiday season because red wax is easier to spot when it drips into the pudding.

An ornamental centerpiece for the table is desirable. A tree may be used, but it must be an awfully young one not over six inches high. Said tree may be colorfully decorated with tinsel. Likewise a house may be built for a centerpiece, but it is well to camouflage it with cotton snow in order that it may not recall too poignantly the approach of the first of January and the next installment.

Cocktail? Yes, Indeed!

Miss Hanson has in mind two varieties of cocktail. There were more. One is made from sardines and the other is brewed from grapefruit.

The recipe says to "mix one-half cup tomato catsup, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon tabasco sauce, the juice of one lemon, and salt to taste. This sauce is poured over the sardines which are served in scallop shells placed on small plates on a bed of crushed ice." Yes, the sardines should be taken out of the cans.

"Wipe grapefruit and cut in halves crosswise," states the second recipe. It does not say with what to wipe them but possibly the edge of the tablecloth might do. Then the instructions continue: "With a small, sharp-pointed knife make a cut separating pulp from skin around entire circumference. Sprinkle the fruit pulp left in grapefruit skin generously with sugar. Let it stand ten minutes and serve very cold. Garnish with a candied cherry."

Poor Fish! One's Enough

Spanish mackerel makes an excellent entre provided the scales are first removed. Miss Hanson says, however, that one kind of fish is enough at a meal and that it is not compulsory to have both sardines and mackerel.

Chicken consomme with oysters should be brought in now if Mrs. Glendale happens to have any in the house. It can be made very cheaply by having a pullet step in a bed of oysters. Then the water is seasoned with salt and cayenne, cream is added and the soft parts of the oysters cooked until plump.

Oh, yes, it says here first to singe the goose and remove the pinfeathers and give it a bath in soapy water.

Potato stuffing makes a fine filling for goose or duck, according to Miss Hanson. She says to "force eight boiled potatoes through a potato ricer. Add one-third cup of melted butter. one cup cream, three eggs well beaten and two medium sized onions finely chopped. Beat two minutes and season with salt and pepper."

"It's a shame that there isn't enough room in The Glendale Evening News to say something about the mince pie or plum pudding. Anyhow, maybe there wouldn't be enough room left to eat it. Don't forget to wash the soap off the goose and serve the dinner on December 25."

CHINAMAN FOILS BANDIT

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—"Put up your hands," ordered a bandit, entering the Chinese laundry operated by Hong Kong, 429 West Third avenue. Up went the arms of Hong Kong. The highwayman then ordered the Chinese laundryman to open the cash drawer. Pretending to comply, Hong Kong jerked out his own revolver. Dropping behind the counter Hong Kong then did the ordering. The bandit made a hurried getaway. Nothing was stolen.

GOLD RESERVE BANK IS PROPOSED FOR AID OF EUROPE

Frank A. Vanderlip Discusses His Projects and Cites Interest Being Shown

By ALLAN L. BENSON,
Written for International News Service
Copyright, 1921, International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—"I have enough faith in America," said Frank A. Vanderlip, "to believe it will get along pretty well materially, whether financial assistance is extended to Europe or not, but if we should let further disaster overtake Europe, it would be death to us spiritually."

Mr. Vanderlip was speaking about the plan he has suggested to establish a gold reserve bank of the United States of Europe, with a paid-in capital of a billion dollars. The success of the plan depends upon the attitude of European governments, European capitalists and American capitalists toward it.

"I have heard nothing directly from European governments," said Mr. Vanderlip, "as to how they stand toward the proposition. I suggested, while in Europe, that such information might be communicated to W. P. G. Harding, director of the Federal Reserve banks, but so far as I have heard, he has heard nothing.

Interest Is Expressed

"A great many European capitalists have expressed interest, and I have received a communication of this sort from Portugal. But Europe appears to be too much distressed to give much consideration to the future. It is apparently all Europe can do to meet its daily problems as they come along. And, of course, European capitalists do not very well understand the plan I have suggested. They have been and are too busy to study it.

"If Europe was interested, I have no doubt sufficient capital could be raised in America to start the bank. The ultimate capital required would be a billion in gold, but the bank could be started in a few countries with a modest capital of, say, $200,000,000. We have imported $625,000,000 gold this year and of this amount we could easily spare $200,000,000."

Speculation Halted Among Egg Dealers

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Judge George Rush, in circuit court, refused to dissolve an injunction, restraining members of the Chicago mercantile exchange—the "butter and egg board"—from dealing in "futures" in eggs.

The injunction, granted Tuesday, in response to a petition filed by Barney Kauffman, a dealer, had halted speculation and tied up trade operations of the exchange. Judge Rush set next Wednesday as the date for a hearing of the case.

Methods of regulating the humidity of the air in buildings, especially in factories where moisture plays an important part in various industrial processes, constitute a branch of engineering known as "air conditioning."

Former President Wilson Will Not Tamper With Treaty

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—Former President Wilson does not want to appear to be interfering in any way with the four-power Pacific treaty or any of the other decisions of the Armament conference.

Nor does Mr. Wilson desire to be placed in the position of seeking to influence the Democratic Senators who still reflect his League of Nations views in whatever attitude they may assume toward the four-power pact or any other treaty or agreement evolved by the conference.

This in substance was the explanation of Mr. Wilson's attitude as it is understood to have been conveyed to the Democratic Senators by Senators Glass and Swanson of Virginia, who still maintain close personal relations with the former President.

Wholesale Freedom for Prisoners Gets Denial

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—There will be no general amnesty for political prisoners before Christmas, it was indicated officially at the White House today. The Department of Justice is now drafting reports on some 200 cases of political prisoners, but these have not yet been transmitted to the president. The president may act on some of these individual cases before Christmas, it was stated, but there was no indication that the Debs case would be among these.

Six Die, One Saved From Mine Disaster

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 16.—Only one of seven men entombed in the Salanic coal mine of the Colorado Collieries company at Morrison, twenty miles west of Denver, was rescued alive. Six bodies have been recovered. They were crushed by a slide when attempting to place a bulkhead in an effort to smother a fire. Only nineteen men were employed at the time of the accident. The crews worked all night removing bodies.

Bankers Are Opposed to Bonus to Soldiers

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—The administration committee of the American Bankers' Association, in session here, adopted a resolution opposing the soldier bonus on grounds that strictest economy in government expenditures is necessary to reduce taxation.

Nurse Is Held for Slaying Assailant

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 16.—Miss Jeahnne Lamoore, nurse at the National Guard Armory, who shot and killed Ras Cooksie, negro janitor, because, she declared he attempted to assault her, was held for the shooting. She will be arraigned before a United States Commissioner.

CONFERENCE BRINGS WORLD POWERS TO UNDERSTANDING

Lot of Good Will Come Out Of Parley; New Tariff Is Being Discussed

By J. E. JONES
Special to The Glendale Evening News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—The armament conference continues to be the absorbing event in the capitals of the world, and, despite hitches in the prearranged program at Washington, the spirit of optimism remains undiminished. Japan is tenaciously hanging on to some of its "rights," but the process of adjustment is being gradually worked out. Unless all signs fail the conference will establish a closer working arrangement between the organized governments of the world.

Lord Grey declared that he could have prevented the world war in 1914 if he had been able to appeal to such official world organizations as now exist, and which have grown out of the Paris peace conference and the Washington conference for the limitation of armament.

Asks Full Party Support

President Harding, in his message, lectured congress about its agricultural blocs and other internal organizations that have prevented carrying out a straight republican program, and he appealed to the members of the two houses to support their party organizations. The president let congress know that he does not consider the tax program as finally settled, and he said that he would have some further recommendations to congress on that subject. Our foreign loans were referred to, and an appeal made for a proper "funding" measure, which means that the matter should be placed in the hands of a commission, or board, to be headed by the secretary of the treasury. Doubtless this plan will be speedily carried out, in order that methods of collection—which are always more difficult than methods for making loans—may be provided for.

Asks for New Tariff

President Harding asked congress to pass the tariff bill, which has been pending since the beginning of his administration. The bill has been before the senate committee for several months, having already been approved by the house. Owing to the fact that there are more than a thousand features in the new bill that have never before been a part of the tariff bill, the manner of handling these items is puzzling, and the president has asked for a "flexible tariff," which, through the tariff commission and the executive, may be altered without the necessity of going to congress for changes. The condition of foreign exchange apparently makes such a course imperative, and the uncertainty of foreign money values likewise makes it essential that an American valuation plan should be agreed upon in the new bill. The freight rate problem, help to American farmers, aid for the starving abroad, and the peace treaties, formed features of the message.

To End Non-Taxable Bonds

The president in his message to congress said that he believes "our tax problems, the tendency of wealth to seek non-taxable investment and the menacing increase of public debt, federal, state and municipal, all justify a proposal to change the constitution so as to end the issue of non-taxable bonds."

Many millions of these non-taxable bonds are outstanding, and their increase through new issues, has made it almost impossible to finance the manufacturing industries and transportation facilities of the country. Public utility institutions have been particularly hit, and fully a year ago they asked congress to call a halt on the non-taxable securities. Apparently only a constitutional amendment can check the evil, and the president has urged the matter in order to guard against what he calls "capital's paralysis."

Boom in Languages

Gradually the language of the world is becoming English, and one can travel from Alaska to Zerubbabel with it. A learned Chinaman who is attending the armament conference apologized for his poor English, to an audience which he was addressing, whereupon the presiding officer remarked that very few of his American audience spoke very good Chinese. But this Chinaman spoke many tongues, and in that respect he was quite like most distinguished foreigners at the conference who carry with them many titles and many languages. Americans who went abroad in the war, came back with smatterings of French and other languages with which they were thrown most intimately in touch.

As a direct result thousands of new students of French entered the institutions of learning. At about the same time the boom in languages included Spanish, which doubtless is popular because it is considered easier to learn than many others; and for further reason that Americans have a peculiar notion that it is "good business" to connect up that particular tongue with the Monroe doctrine and possible development of Central and South American trades.

The Berlitz School of Languages, which exist all over the country, are just now having a run of applicants for instruction in German and Italian, and the great schools in Washington and New York are experiencing difficulty in getting enough teachers. This is particularly true in Washington because all German citizens were compelled to leave the District of Columbia during the war, and not many of them have returned to the capital. Inasmuch as the capital is filled with internationalism, it is very interesting to note that the spirit among Americans as it has crystallized in the Berlitz schools indicates that a person must include a foreign language in his vocabulary.

Parade Tomorrow Will See Two School Sites

Parade tomorrow afternoon!

To acquaint the voters of the Glendale Union High School District with the physical aspects of both the east and west high school sites a parade will be held tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Glendale Improvement association.

A number of car owners have offered their services and their automobiles for the occasion and those who desire to take the trip have been invited by the committee to notify Mrs. M. L. Tight, 612 East Broadway, Glendale 1657, or R. A. Elrod, 1651 Gardena avenue, Glendale 2032-W.

The parade will form at Harvard and Columbus avenues in order to be out of the traffic. The route is Central avenue to Broadway, to junction of Broadway and Colorado avenue, to Verdugo Road, to Lexington Drive, to Brand boulevard, to Doran street, to San Fernando Road, to Grand View avenue, to Sixth street, to Pacific avenue, to Patterson avenue, to Kenilworth avenue, to Doran avenue, to Central avenue to Broadway.

Pacific Furniture Co. Buys Foster Business

The Pacific Furniture Company, with J. Grossman and H. H. Miller as proprietors, has bought the lease, stock and fixtures of the Foster Furniture Company at 246 North Brand boulevard, and will augment the stock immediately with a line of Christmas goods for next week's selling.

It is the intention of the new firm to carry a complete line of home furnishings and increase the stock as rapidly as their trade will permit. They come to Glendale with eight years' experience and have adopted "quality, price and service" as their watchword.

Final Performance of Variety Show Tonight

The final performance of the annual high school variety show will be given tonight in the high school auditorium.

Critics, who have seen the bill, state that it is extremely difficult to state which of the numbers is the best on account of the excellency of all of them.

Miss Lucy Strothers, general manager of the show, stated this morning that very few seats were left for tonight's performance. She declared that the net profit would be at least $400. This will be placed in the student body treasury.

General Danny Cupid Aids Fighting Amazons

PITTSBURG, Kans., Dec. 16.—The fighting Amazons of the Kansas coal mines had a new ally in their offensive against the state troopers today—little Danny Cupid.

The first official order of Col. W. McD Rowan, in charge of the troops, read:

"We are here for grim business and not a social spree. Guardsmen must not flirt or promote love affairs with the women of the district."

Colonel Rowan said his "no love-making" order would be enforced to the letter.

Postmaster Hays in Hospital From Nerves

CHICAGO, Dec. 16. — Will H. Hays, postmaster-general of the United States, is seriously ill at St. Luke's hospital where he came several days ago to visit Mrs. Hays, who also is a patient there. Mr. Hays is in a serious nervous condition, caused partly by injuries received several weeks ago in a railroad wreck in New York, and partly by the strenuous business and political life in which he has been engaged.

The wood used for golf clubs, ball bats, tennis racquets, would build a whole street of cottages. But the investment in wood for sports is worth while.

Announcement

The Pacific Furniture Company, H. H. Miller and I. Crossman, Props., have purchased the Foster Furniture Co., California and Brand, and will greatly enlarge the stocks and wish to get acquainted with the people of Glendale and vicinity.

A FRIEND OF MINE

—has built two dainty little houses, east front, which are the last word in modern construction. The living room is large and light, with beautiful tile mantel, unusually attractive built-in features and fire place arranged for wood or gas. The two bedrooms are most attractive with roomy closets; the bath dainty and well arranged. The kitchen will delight any woman—tile sink, built-in features and large breakfast nook; the screen porch with heater and laundry tray. Of course, you'll find hardwood floors throughout, a full-sized lot, well-built garage, splendid walks and drive. The location cannot be excelled in Glendale, close in and yet on high ground, with wonderful view of the mountains. The price is right, the terms easy. Here is a Christmas present worthwhile.

I have watched these houses throughout the building; the material is the best, pure lead and oil used in the painting—the wall papel of the better kind.

If you want one of these houses, better see me soon.

Eighty Cents Is Top for Candy Per Pound

CHICAGO—When you pay more than eighty cents a pound for candy you're paying for the ribbons, tinfoil and the fancy box.

You have the authority of W. C. Hughes, secretary of the National Confectioners' association, for that statement.

Hughes says that manufacturers have cut their prices 40 to 50 per cent. His organization, he said, is planning a national advertising campaign to teach people that they can buy good candy without paying fancy prices for fancy boxes.

Candy, by the way, isn't a luxury, according to Hughes. There is no reason, he believes, why it should not be a daily food, in the same class with pies and cakes.

PLUTARCH IS "SAFE"

It must be a relief to Plutarch, wherever he may be, to know that, quite apart from hearsay and anecdote, many of the documents he used have been lost beyond recovery, so that he can no longer be checked up at all points by the scientific historians of the present age.

HAWAIIAN STAMPS

The first woman's portrait to be placed on a Hawaiian stamp was that of the Princess Victoria Kamamala, who appeared on the 1-cent issue of 1869. She was a daughter of Kamehamaha V., one of the most energetic of the native rulers. In the 1882 issue a picture of the Princess Likelike appears on the 1-cent value. Queen Lilioukalani graced the 2-cent stamp of the 1891 issue, the portrait being excellently engraved.

PRAYING BY PROXY

From October to February, there is a long line of dirty travelers making their way to the top of the sacred mountain of eastern Thibet. Each one prays as he travels, the prayer consisting of whirling a small cylinder of metal mounted upon a stick. At intervals there are larger cylinders which they whirl as they pass. The mountain is 12,000 feet high and the climb is hard, but the descent is said to be just as difficult.

U. S. ARMY GENERAL IN WARM DEFENSE OF POISON GAS

Much Better Than Bayonet, He Says; America Leads in Its Perfection

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
Written for International News Service
Copyright, 1921, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—Development of chemical warfare into a prohibitive horror will serve as a means of preventing future wars, in the expressed opinion here today of Brigadier-General Amos A. Fries, head of the army's chemical warfare section.

If there is a "next war," the general indicated, it will be one of science in which the stricken people will wither under the poison-drenched mists of exploding gas shells, with cities emptied by a plague from the air and armies fighting half-heartedly against a terror-inspiring foe.

America leads the world in perfecting gas, the general said. He voiced an appeal that this nation continue its preparation and avoid the placing of any limits on its usage.

"There can be no limitations on gas through fear of the 'outlaw' nation," he said. "In the world war, Germany became the 'outlaw,' breaking her pledge. In a possible future war, if we limited our use of gas, we would find another materialistic nation having us suddenly at its mercy."

Says Gas "Humane"

The general also declared that poison gas, though inspiring a fear throughout the civilized world, was the most humane of all modern methods of warfare.

"Gas is not necessarily fatal to protected troops," he said. "In the world war, only 2 per cent of all gas casualties proved fatal while 25 per cent of the bullet and shell casualties died. Of 74,779 American gas casualties in the world war, only 1,400 died. A soldier stricken by gas had twelve times as many chances of recovering as the man wounded by any other cause."

The general, however, declared that gas would be devastating to unprotected peoples.

"We have developed poison gas to a point now where it would cause 100 per cent casualties among unprotected people or troops. At least 10 per cent would be killed instantly. This is as true of chlorine, the mildest gas, as well as of leadside, the most deadly," he added. "To unprepared populations and in cities behind the lines, a modern gas attack would have withering effects. It is this terror of what might happen to the great cities of the nations, that will react as a prevention of future wars."

Better Than Bayonet?

He declared that despite its fear-inspiring reputation, poison gas was "neither diabolical nor even horrible."

"Poison gas is not near as dreadful as bayonet warfare," he said. "Compared to the effects of high explosive shells, it was a mild form of warfare. Of all American soldiers blinded in the world war, only 3.85 per cent were caused by gas.

"It is said gassed soldiers are tubercular. The records show that only 2.5 in every 1,000 of gassed casualties contracted tuberculosis, while 4.3 per 1,000 among all other casualties and the unwounded as well, were stricken in the same time with the same disease."

General Fries appealed for continued preparation in gas warfare. America, he said, can remain in the forerank among the "prepared nation," by developing the coal tar industry, from which the gasses are obtained by protecting dyestuffs and developing a trained body of technical experts.

WOMAN PLOTS TO ADOPT BABY AND GAIN WEALTH

Charged With Bold Attempt to Fool Former Husband and Secure Alimony

Special to The Glendale Evening News.
By RAY HUMPHREYS

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 16.—Twelve blinking babies, propped up in a row in a ward at Cottage Home hospital here, gazed up into the face of Mrs. Helen Sullivan, pretty young Denver matron.

"I'll take this one," she decided.

An attendant picked the babe up, glanced at the tag attached, and handing it to Mrs. Sullivan, said:

"This is John Lawrence Cole, and he's only a day old."

"That is just splendid," answered the comely Mrs. Sullivan, "but from now on he's John Sullivan," and she held the babe close to her expensive fur necklace. The baby blinked.

That was the way that John Lawrence Cole Sullivan, homeless day-old waif, became almost a millionaire.

But police butted in.

And now the babe is back in the Cottage Home institute, again John Lawrence Cole, waif, and Mrs. Sullivan is being grilled by district attorney attaches, and a man, Barney Logan, hack driver, is in the city jail—while the story of the affair is startling the whole of Denver and St. Louis, where the Sullivans are known.

And Here's What Happened

Mrs. Sullivan, in brief, is charged with attempted imposition on the Denver juvenile court and the hospital, and Barney Logan, the hack driver, faces similar allegations.

Here is what happened:

Mrs. Sullivan, according to police, went to the court and hospital, introducing Barney Logan as her husband. This "fake" husband signed the adoption papers for John Lawrence Cole. It was not that Barney or Mrs. Sullivan wanted the baby to have a home, particularly, but it was an effort, it is alleged, to practice an imposition on George Marion Sullivan of St. Louis, divorced husband of Mrs. Sullivan.

According to the understanding of juvenile court officers, Mrs. Sullivan was awarded alimony for herself and child, and was compelled to produce a child to obtain the alimony. With Barney she engineered the adoption of the babe, and then telegraphed Sullivan that she had become a mother on the day that she adopted the child.

Child Would Be Heir

Incidentally the child would be heir to the estate of Sullivan, she said, for Sullivan's parents, living in Alabama, are wealthy. Had not the police fallen foul of the deception it is most probable that the nameless waif might, indeed, as Mrs. Sullivan hoped, some day have collected the fortune.

"I won't talk," says Mrs. Sullivan.

Police say that she left her husband last June and came to Denver shortly thereafter. Here she soon made many friends, and three of these, police claim, signed papers and recommendations setting forth "Mr. and Mrs. Sullvan" are splendid citizens and able to provide a good home for the adopted tot. Barney Logan, alleged "fake" husband, volunteered, it is understood, to pose as "Mr. Sullivan" to help the woman obtain the baby. It is not known whether or not he was "wise" to the deception that police claim was to have been practiced on Sullivan, the divorced husband in St. Louis.

Wife of Twelve

LIMIT ON PICKETS NOW PLACED BY SUPREME COURT

Not Justifiable When Used With Labor Strike, Is the Ruling Recently Made

By U. S. Press Association.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—Picketing in connection with a labor strike is unjustifiable if carried to the point of "importunity and dogging," according to a decision of the United States Supreme Court. Decision as to whether specific instances of picketing come within the court's inhibition must be left for determination on the facts in each case, it was declared, but the Court suggested that pickets should have the "right of observation, communication and persuasion," and might further be limited to "one representative fo reach point of ingress and egress." Referring to one strike in a steel plant at Granite City, Illinois, out of which the right to picket was challenged the decision, read by the Chief Justice said: "The strike became a lawful instrument in a lawful economic struggle or competition between employer and employe, as to the share or division between them of the joint product of labor and capital. . . . The principle of the unlawfulness of maliciously enticing laborers still remains, and action may be maintained therefor in proper cases, but to make it applicable to local labor unions, in such a case as this, seems to us to be unreasonable."

Progress of Reclamation

The annual report of Director Arthur P. Davis, of the United States Reclamation Service, Department of the Interior, shows that the works of the Reclamation Service in the arid and semi-arid States of the West served, in 1920, areas aggregating about 2,845,000 irrigable acres, including 1,662,000 acres for which the Government systems furnished the sole supply of irrigation water, and 1,183,000 acres to which in most cases the service furnished stored water in bulk to supplement the partial supply of private systems otherwise dependent on unregulated stream flow. Of the first class, 1,224,000 acres were actually irrigated and 1,154,000 harvested, producing crops to the value of more than $66,000,000. Of the other class, from less complete information, it is roughly estimated that 982,000 acres were irrigated and 950,000 cropped, producing crops to the value of $47,500,000 or a grand total of nearly $114,000,000.

Since the Government works began the delivery of irrigation water, the crops produced on the reclaimed lands have exceeded $400,000,000 in value. This includes nothing for the large areas under private systems served Government water and does not include increased values produced as livestock and stock products. The increase in the value of lands is estimated to amount to over $500,000,000 based on Government reclamation work.

American Cable

Lt. Col. Frank J. Griffin, of the Signal Corps of the Army, appearing before the House committee on appropriations, said that the Washington-Alaska military cable and telegraph system included 2,675 miles of submarine cable, with a terminal in Seattle, and its Alaska terminals at Seward, Valdez, Cordova, Skagway, Sitka, and Ketchikan where, by means of various telegraph, telephone and radio stations, it serves as practically the only communication outlet for the entire Territory of Alaska.

In Bad Condition

The report of the Commissioner of Patents shows that the Patent Office is in a deplorable condition. Since July, 1919, the Patent Office has suffered a loss of 163 examiners. These men, who were scientifically trained and also members of the bar, have been replaced by inexperienced men, fresh from college, without any knowledge of patent law, or any legal training. The number of applications for patents has increased 34 per cent during the period, while the trade mark applications increased 85 and one-half per cent. In July, 1919 there were 18,000 patent applications awaiting action. There are now about 50,000 applications awaiting examination.

At any rate, the man of few words doesn't have to take many of them back.
